Project No: 76116051 SJ U1 relay protection

Company: 003
Location: 761

Project Information

Construction Start Date | In Service Date | Completion Date 03/30/15

List Interim In-Service Dates

These projects will be in service on or before December 31, 2014

Project Need Justification

"This project is part of a group of projects (group includes 76116051, 76616133, 76616520, 77917723, 77917824) that address equipment obsolescence issues and new standards for exposure to potential arc flash energy. Protective relay technology has moved from electromechanical devices to solid state devices and electromechanical relays are becoming obsolete. OSHA regulations regarding exposure to potential arc flash energy have become more stringent since the San Juan Plant was designed and constructed. Solid state relays can be used to control arc flash incident energy. These projects are part of a multiyear program to replace electromechanical relays with solid state relays. The relays are located in all areas of the plant - each unit, common areas and the switchyard."

Project Alternatives

The existing electromechanical relays could continue to be maintained but the task will become increasingly difficult as parts become less available. The alternative for compliance with arc flash exposure standards is personal protective equipment for employees assigned to task where arc flash exposure occurs.

Technical Aspects

Replace obsolete electromechanical relays with solid state devices. The relays are located in all areas of the plant - each unit, common areas and the switchyard.

Project No: 76116114 U1 Boiler Shutoff Platforms - 2014

Company: 003
Location: 761

Project Information

Construction Start Date | In Service Date | Completion Date 12/31/14 | Page 1

List Interim In-Service Dates

These projects complete at various times in 2014, 2015 and 2016 but mainly by December 31 of each year.

Project Need Justification

Routine major maintenance activities that meet the criteria for capitalization are necessary to keep site buildings, access ways, lighting and infrastructure in a safe and reliable condition. This project is part of several projects (76116328, 76116334, 76116335, 76416127, 76416128, 76516036, 76516117, 76516717, 76616231, 76616536, 76617515, 76116114, 76116331, 76117514, 76517524, 76616028, 76616054, 76616115, 76617915, 76716220) that relate to building and structure maintenance requirments. These projects, include replacing roof systems that have had a normal life expectancy and require replacement due to the fact they are reaching the end of life, attending to aging coating systems (typically paint), designing and constructing access platforms to address safety issues, and purchasing scaffolding to reduce rental expense.

Project Alternatives

Building maintenance activities have no alternatives as long as the facilities are occupied and used for production. There is some discretion in the timing of these investments and typically they are arranged (when possible) in years when there are no planned outages as projects in non-outage years typically have less project management demands and lower capital funding requirements.

Technical Aspects

Platforms are typically steel frames with grating surfaces and either stair risers and stringers or caged ladders. Construct steel framed structures with grating surfaces to enhance access to equipment.

List Interim In-Service Dates

Project Need Justification

The boiler is second only to the turbine-generator in ranking of critical assets in a coal fired generating unit. Major maintenance activities on this asset meet the criteria for capitalization. These major maintenance activities occur during planned unit outages with durations between 20 and 50 days. San Juan Unit 1 has a planned outage of 50 days in 2015. The scope of work is driven by performance issues that have resulted in unscheduled and forced outages. These investments will address reliability issues.

Project Alternatives

This is a major maintenance activity designed to return the asset from worn conditions back to original design specifications, there are no technical alternatives. This activity involves the removal and replacement of in-kind equipment with some material upgrades and design improvements to address known problems within the boiler. Operational alternatives would be to reduce unit output and/or accept a lower unit reliability but these are not viable alternatives.

Technical Aspects

Remove bottom loop of primary superheaters. Replace bottom loops of front and rear bundles with shorter loops. Remove tubes 1-8 on all division wall panels.

Project Need Justification

The flue gas desulfurization (FGD) systems are pollution control systems designed to remove sulfur dioxide (SO2) from the gases generated by burning coal. Major maintenance activities on these systems meet the criteria for capitalization. These major maintenance activities occur during planned unit outages with durations between 20 and 50 days. San Juan Unit 1 and San Juan Unit 4 both have planned outages of 50 days in 2015. These activities are necessary to maintain compliance with the Title V Air Permit which, among other things, regulates the emission rate for SO2. Poor performance of the FGD systems will result in either reduced unit output capacity (production of fewer megawatt hours) or out of compliance operation which can result in fines or penalties.

Project Alternatives

This is a major maintenance activity designed to return the systems from worn conditions back to original design specifications, there are no technical alternatives. These activities are mostly remove and replace in-kind with some material upgrades. Operational alternatives would be to reduce unit output but this is not a viable alternative as it would result in higher cost per megawatt hour.

Technical Aspects

In kind replacement of perforated steel plates (the sieve trays).

Project No: 76116317 Unit 1 Bottom Ash Controls in DCS

Company: 003
Location: 761

Project Information

Construction Start Date 1/1/2015 In Service Date Completion Date 05/30/15

List Interim In-Service Dates

Project Need Justification

Changes to control systems are typically implemented during planned outage periods. Both San Juan Unit 1 and Unit 4 have planned outages in 2015. This is one of several projects (see 76116317, 76116622, 76117532, 76128014, 76128015, 76128023, 76328014, 76328015, 76416119, 76428015, 76428518) that is part of a plant wide program to replace aging and/or obsolete control devices (such as pistol grip switches and mechanical devices) with current state of the art devices (such as "soft" switches on computer screens and electronic transmitters). These upgrades allow a reduction in physical space for controls (moving from panel boards to computer screens), consistency in control device philosophy, easier troubleshooting and greater system status information for the unit operators. Routine software upgrades are implement from time to time to address identified bugs and/or security issues. Self documenting software provides both control and communications of changes made in control logic.

Project Alternatives

The only alternative is the "do nothing" alternative. Existing systems can be maintained although with increasing difficulty, increasing expense, and decreasing reliability due to obsolescence issues.

Technical Aspects

Replace existing locally mounted buttons and switches with electronic devices within the DCS system.

Project No: 76116320 Unit 1 Economizer and Flame Sprays

Company: 003
Location: 761

Project Information

Construction Start Date 1/1/2015 In Service Date Completion Date 05/30/15

List Interim In-Service Dates

Project Need Justification

The boiler is second only to the turbine-generator in ranking of critical assets in a coal fired generating unit. Major maintenance activities on this asset meet the criteria for capitalization. These major maintenance activities occur during planned unit outages with durations between 20 and 50 days. San Juan Unit 1 has a planned outage of 50 days in 2015. The scope of work is driven by performance issues that have resulted in unscheduled and forced outages. These investments will address reliability issues.

Project Alternatives

This is a major maintenance activity designed to return the asset from worn conditions back to original design specifications, there are no technical alternatives. This activity involves the removal and replacement of in-kind equipment with some material upgrades and design improvements to address known problems within the boiler. Operational alternatives would be to reduce unit output and/or accept a lower unit reliability but these are not viable alternatives.

Technical Aspects

Install erosion barriers and tube shields on the horizontal reheater.

Project Need Justification

Routine major maintenance activities that meet the criteria for capitalization are necessary to keep site buildings, access ways, lighting and infrastructure in a safe and reliable condition. This project is part of several projects (76116328, 76116334, 76116335, 76416127, 76416128, 76516036, 76516117, 76516717, 76616231, 76616536, 76617515, 76116114, 76116331, 76117514, 76517524, 76616028, 76616054, 76616115, 76617915, 76716220) that relate to building and structure maintenance requirments. These projects, include replacing roof systems that have had a normal life expectancy and require replacement due to the fact they are reaching the end of life, attending to aging coating systems (typically paint), designing and constructing access platforms to address safety issues, and purchasing scaffolding to reduce rental expense.

Project Alternatives

Building maintenance activities have no alternatives as long as the facilities are occupied and used for production. There is some discretion in the timing of these investments and typically they are arranged (when possible) in years when there are no planned outages as projects in non-outage years typically have less project management demands and lower capital funding requirements.

Technical Aspects

Replace failed roofing with fully adhered roofing system. Roof replacements include removal of the existing ballast and/or fully adhered waterproof membrane, insulation and decking (if necessary). Some of the original roofing systems used asbestos containing materials so abatement is necessary. The new roof systems are using a light weight concrete in lieu of aggregate ballast.

Project No: 76116329 Unit 1 Mercury Monitoring

Company: 003
Location: 761

Project Information

Construction Start Date | In Service Date | Completion Date 12/31/13 | Page 1

List Interim In-Service Dates

This project is in service

Project Need Justification

Mercury monitoring systems are the equipment used to measure stack emissions and report information to various environmental regulators as required by the Title V Air Permit. Replacement is necessary to avoid obsolescence issues.

Project Alternatives

This project is needed in order to comply with new air permit monitoring requirements. There are no viable alternatives.

Technical Aspects

Install sorbent traps at the stack to collect mercury emissions information.

List Interim In-Service Dates

Project Need Justification

The flue gas desulfurization (FGD) systems are pollution control systems designed to remove sulfur dioxide (SO2) from the gases generated by burning coal. Major maintenance activities on these systems meet the criteria for capitalization. These major maintenance activities occur during planned unit outages with durations between 20 and 50 days. San Juan Unit 1 and San Juan Unit 4 both have planned outages of 50 days in 2015. These activities are necessary to maintain compliance with the Title V Air Permit which, among other things, regulates the emission rate for SO2. Poor performance of the FGD systems will result in either reduced unit output capacity (production of fewer megawatt hours) or out of compliance operation which can result in fines or penalties.

Project Alternatives

This is a major maintenance activity designed to return the systems from worn conditions back to original design specifications, there are no technical alternatives. These activities are mostly remove and replace in-kind with some material upgrades. Operational alternatives would be to reduce unit output but this is not a viable alternative as it would result in higher cost per megawatt hour.

Technical Aspects

Clean outlet hoods and ducts down to bright metal. Install an expoxy coating to both the inside and outside surfaces to protect the substrate metal from corrosion.

List Interim In-Service Dates

These projects complete at various times in 2014, 2015 and 2016 but mainly by December 31 of each year.

Project Need Justification

Routine major maintenance activities that meet the criteria for capitalization are necessary to keep site buildings, access ways, lighting and infrastructure in a safe and reliable condition. This project is part of several projects (76116328, 76116334, 76116335, 76416127, 76416128, 76516036, 76516117, 76516717, 76616231, 76616536, 76617515, 76116114, 76116331, 76117514, 76517524, 76616028, 76616054, 76616115, 76617915, 76716220) that relate to building and structure maintenance requirments. These projects, include replacing roof systems that have had a normal life expectancy and require replacement due to the fact they are reaching the end of life, attending to aging coating systems (typically paint), designing and constructing access platforms to address safety issues, and purchasing scaffolding to reduce rental expense.

Project Alternatives

Building maintenance activities have no alternatives as long as the facilities are occupied and used for production. There is some discretion in the timing of these investments and typically they are arranged (when possible) in years when there are no planned outages as projects in non-outage years typically have less project management demands and lower capital funding requirements.

Technical Aspects

Platforms are typically steel frames with grating surfaces and either stair risers and stringers or caged ladders. Construct steel framed structures with grating surfaces to enhance access to equipment

Project No: 76116332 Unit 1 Platforms - 2014

Company: 003
Location: 761

Project Information

Construction Start Date | In Service Date | Completion Date 12/31/14

List Interim In-Service Dates

These projects will be in service on or before December 31, 2014

Project Need Justification

Routine major maintenance activities that meet the criteria for capitalization are necessary to keep site buidlings, accessways, lighting and infrastructure in a safe and reliable condition. Access platforms are designed and installed when and where needed to address safety issues.

Project Alternatives

Building maintenance activities have no alternatives as long as the facilities are occupied and used for production. There is some descretion in the timing of these investments and typically they are arranged (when possible) in years when there are no planned outages. Non-outage years typically have less project management demands and lower capital funding requirements.

Technical Aspects

Platforms are typically steel frames with grating surfaces and either stair risers and stringers or caged ladders.

Project Need Justification

Routine major maintenance activities that meet the criteria for capitalization are necessary to keep site buildings, access ways, lighting and infrastructure in a safe and reliable condition. This project is part of several projects (76116328, 76116334, 76116335, 76416127, 76416128, 76516036, 76516117, 76516717, 76616231, 76616536, 76617515, 76116114, 76116331, 76117514, 76517524, 76616028, 76616054, 76616115, 76617915, 76716220) that relate to building and structure maintenance requirments. These projects, include replacing roof systems that have had a normal life expectancy and require replacement due to the fact they are reaching the end of life, attending to aging coating systems (typically paint), designing and constructing access platforms to address safety issues, and purchasing scaffolding to reduce rental expense.

Project Alternatives

Building maintenance activities have no alternatives as long as the facilities are occupied and used for production. There is some discretion in the timing of these investments and typically they are arranged (when possible) in years when there are no planned outages as projects in non-outage years typically have less project management demands and lower capital funding requirements.

Technical Aspects

Construct steel framed structures with grating surfaces to enhance access to equipment. Platforms are typically steel frames with grating surfaces and either stair risers and stringers or caged ladders.

Project Need Justification

Routine major maintenance activities that meet the criteria for capitalization are necessary to keep site buildings, access ways, lighting and infrastructure in a safe and reliable condition. This project is part of several projects (76116328, 76116334, 76116335, 76416127, 76416128, 76516036, 76516117, 76516717, 76616231, 76616536, 76617515, 76116114, 76116331, 76117514, 76517524, 76616028, 76616054, 76616115, 76617915, 76716220) that relate to building and structure maintenance requirments. These projects, include replacing roof systems that have had a normal life expectancy and require replacement due to the fact they are reaching the end of life, attending to aging coating systems (typically paint), designing and constructing access platforms to address safety issues, and purchasing scaffolding to reduce rental expense.

Project Alternatives

Building maintenance activities have no alternatives as long as the facilities are occupied and used for production. There is some discretion in the timing of these investments and typically they are arranged (when possible) in years when there are no planned outages as projects in non-outage years typically have less project management demands and lower capital funding requirements.

Technical Aspects

Construct steel framed structures with grating surfaces to enhance access to equipment. Platforms are typically steel frames with grating surfaces and either stair risers and stringers or caged ladders.

List Interim In-Service Dates

Project Need Justification

This is one of several projects (see also 76116414, 76116914, 76117715, 76416212, 76117618, 76717913) relating to upgrading/maintaining the the circulating water systems that are comprised primarily of condensers and cooling towers. This system condenses steam leaving the turbine and exhauts the waste heat to the atmosphere. Major maintenance on these components can only occur during extended outage periods. Both San Juan Unit 1 and Unit 4 have 50 day planned outages in 2015. The duration of the outages allows maintenance activities which meet the criteria for capitalization to occur. Eddy current testing on both Unit 1 and Unit 4 condensers indicate accelerated instances of tube thinning. This is confirmed by the increasing rate of lost production due to condenser tube leaks. The Unit 1 cooling tower has significant deterioration in the fan deck and hot water basin. The deterioration is severe to the point it creates an unsafe condition for employees. Electrical equipment and the manholes through which cables are routed are also in need or replacement or reconstruction. The electrical loads currently exceed the short circuit rating of the circuit breakers. The auxiliary cooling tower has damaged and plugged drift eliminators which require replacement for the tower to function properly.

Project Alternatives

A tube for tube replacement approach has been selected for both condensers. The alternative approach is a modular replacement. The modular approach is roughly twice as costly but with only minimal additional benefit. There are no functional alternative to replacing the fan deck and hot water basin. The wood structures are deteriorated and unsafe. There are alternates for replacement material selection and the more durable fiberglass option has been selected.

Technical Aspects

Rebuild deteriorated below grade power cable routing paths. This will include replacing concrete, electrical cable, fiber optic cable, etc..

Project Need Justification

This project is one of several projects (see also 76116415, 76116512, 76117432, 76416715, 76417515, 76416215) that relate to the operation of the boiler and combustion optimization. Combustion optimization, steam temperature control and leak detection are all elements of boiler operation which have a direct impact on fuel efficiency and cost of generation. The amount of oxygen and carbon monoxide leaving the boiler reflects the completeness of combustion. The original design had only minimal oxygen and carbon monoxide sensing devices. Early detection of tube leaks allow operators to shut down the boiler before extensive damage occurs. Fine control of steam temperatures are accomplished by using attemperator spray valves. The valves on Unit 4 are in poor condition and require replacement.

Project Alternatives

There is no technical alternative to replacing the attemperator spray valves. This is a maintenance activity that meets the criteria for capitalization. The other projects will produce paybacks of reduced fuel consumption and higher boiler reliability.

Technical Aspects

Install sensing devices, transmitters, analytical software and controls to enhance combustion based on carbon monoxide readings at the boiler exit.

Project Need Justification

This project is one of several projects (see also 76116415, 76116512, 76117432, 76416715, 76417515, 76416215) that relate to the operation of the boiler and combustion optimization. Combustion optimization, steam temperature control and leak detection are all elements of boiler operation which have a direct impact on fuel efficiency and cost of generation. The amount of oxygen and carbon monoxide leaving the boiler reflects the completeness of combustion. The original design had only minimal oxygen and carbon monoxide sensing devices. Early detection of tube leaks allow operators to shut down the boiler before extensive damage occurs. Fine control of steam temperatures are accomplished by using attemperator spray valves. The valves on Unit 4 are in poor condition and require replacement.

Project Alternatives

There is no technical alternative to replacing the attemperator spray valves. This is a maintenance activity that meets the criteria for capitalization. The other projects will produce paybacks of reduced fuel consumption and higher boiler reliability.

Technical Aspects

Install sensing devices, transmitters, and analytical software to detect boiler tube leaks based on sound waves generated by escaping steam. The system has a computer model of the boiler to help pinpoint the location of the leak.

Project Need Justification

This project is part of a group of projects (see also 76116513, 76117733, 76117747, 76416134, 76616036, 77916136, 77917925, 76617132, 76416424) that addresses equipment obsolescence issues and new standards for exposure to potential arc flash energy. Protective relay technology has moved from electromechanical devices to solid state devices. Electromechanical relays are becoming obsolete. OSHA regulations regarding exposure to potential arc flash energy have become more stringent since the San Juan Plant was designed and constructed. Solid state relays can be used to control arc flash incident energy.

Project Alternatives

The existing electromechanical relays could continue to be maintained but the task will become increasingly difficult as parts become less available. The alternative for compliance with arc flash exposure standards is personal protective equipment for employees assigned to task where arc flash exposure occurs.

Technical Aspects

Replace obsolete electromechanical relays with solid state devices. This project is part of a multiyear program to replace electromechanical relays with solid state relays. The relays are located in all areas of the plant - each unit, common areas and the switchyard.

Project No: 76116515 Unit 1 CEM Replacement

Company: 003
Location: 761

Project Information

Construction Start Date 2/1/2016 In Service Date Completion Date 05/30/16 Page 1

List Interim In-Service Dates

Project Need Justification

Continuous emissions monitoring systems are the equipment used to measure stack emissions and report information to various environmental regulators as required by the Title V Air Permit. Replacement is necessary to avoid obsolescence issues.

Project Alternatives

This is a maintenance activity that meets the criteria for capitalization. There are no viable alternatives.

Technical Aspects

Replace monitors and software used to report stack emission data to regulatory agencies. The existing systems will be replaced with the latest version of sensors, gas analyzers and data collection devices. The new equipment will have greater accuracy and higher reliability than the aging equipment.

Project Need Justification

Changes to control systems are typically implemented during planned outage periods. Both San Juan Unit 1 and Unit 4 have planned outages in 2015. This is one of several projects (see 76116317, 76116622, 76117532, 76128014, 76128015, 76128023, 76328014, 76328015, 76416119, 76428015, 76428518) that is part of a plant wide program to replace aging and/or obsolete control devices (such as pistol grip switches and mechanical devices) with current state of the art devices (such as "soft" switches on computer screens and electronic transmitters). These upgrades allow a reduction in physical space for controls (moving from panel boards to computer screens), consistency in control device philosophy, easier troubleshooting and greater system status information for the unit operators. Routine software upgrades are implementing from time to time to address identified bugs and/or security issues. Self documenting software provides both control and communications of changes made in control logic.

Project Alternatives

The only alternative is the "do nothing" alternative. Existing systems can be maintained although with increasing difficulty, increasing expense, and decreasing reliability due to obsolescence issues.

Technical Aspects

Replace hydraulic trip mechanisms with transmitter supported electronic controls.

Project No: 76116714 Unit 1 Generator Fluz probe testing equipment

Company: 003
Location: 761

Project Information

Construction Start Date | In Service Date | Completion Date 07/30/14 | Page 1

List Interim In-Service Dates

These systems will be in service by December 31, 2014

Project Need Justification

This project is part of a group of projects (group includes 76116714, 76117821, 76316532, 76416232, 76516072, 76617215, 76616311, 76717514, 76716015, 76617232) that addresses obsolesce issues in various local control systems. The original controls are mainly local panels with mechanical and electromechanical devices. They are being replaced with Programmable Logic Controllers (PLCs) which can be connected to the Distributed Control System (DCS). This will enable monitoring and operation from the control room as well as locally. As with all microprocessor based systems, upgrades are required periodically, including replacement of Input/Output (I/O) circuit boards and Control
Processors (CPs).

Project Alternatives

The alternative is to continue to maintain the existing equipment but this will become increasingly costly and difficult as replacement parts become harder to find.

Technical Aspects

Install data collection devices and software to analyze for potential shorted turn in the generator

Project No: 76116715 Unit 1 Primary Air Damper Replacement

Company: 003
Location: 761

Project Information

Construction Start Date 1/1/2015 In Service Date Completion Date 05/30/15 Page 1

List Interim In-Service Dates

Project Need Justification

The equipment which prepares and delivers fuel to the boilers consists of many high wear components that require routine replacement. Major maintenance activities on this equipment meet the criteria for capitalization. Routine maintenance is necessary to sustain reliable operation of the generating unit.

Project Alternatives

This is a major maintenance activity designed to return the systems from worn conditions back to original design specifications, there are no technical alternatives. This activity primarily involves removing and replacing equipment with like equipment with some material upgrades, such as the addition of ceramic liners in the pulverizer bowl sections. Operational alternatives would be to reduce unit output but this is not a viable alternative.

Technical Aspects

In kind replacement of 12 dampers.

Project No: 76116814 Unit 1 Dewatering bin

Company: 003
Location: 761

Project Information

Construction Start Date | In Service Date | Completion Date 10/30/15 | Page 1

List Interim In-Service Dates

These projects will be in service on or before December 31, 2014

Project Need Justification

Approximately 20% of the ash produced from the combustion of coal is collected in a water filled hopper at the bottom of each boiler. Ash is removed from these hoppers using flushing waters via a high pressure pump.. The ash and water combination is sent to dewatering bins where the water is decanted and returned for reuse. The dewatered solids are trucked to a disposal site.

Project Alternatives

As these are major maintenance activities designed to return the systems from worn conditions back to original design specifications, there are no technical alternatives. These activities are mostly remove and replace in-kind with some material upgrades.

Technical Aspects

Replace eroded cone and transition with in-kind rolled steel plates. In-kind replacement of weir plate. Install additional stiffeners on vertical sections in accordance with engineering recommendations.

Project Need Justification

This is one of several projects (see also 76116414, 76116914, 76117715, 76416212, 76117618, 76717913) relating to upgrading/maintaining the the circulating water systems that are comprised primarily of condensers and cooling towers. This system condenses steam leaving the turbine and exhauts the waste heat to the atmosphere. Major maintenance on these components can only occur during extended outage periods. Both San Juan Unit 1 and Unit 4 have 50 day planned outages in 2015. The duration of the outages allows maintenance activities which meet the criteria for capitalization to occur. Eddy current testing on both Unit 1 and Unit 4 condensers indicate accelerated instances of tube thinning. This is confirmed by the increasing rate of lost production due to condenser tube leaks. The Unit 1 cooling tower has significant deterioration in the fan deck and hot water basin. The deterioration is severe to the point it creates an unsafe condition for employees. Electrical equipment and the manholes through which cables are routed are also in need or replacement or reconstruction. The electrical loads currently exceed the short circuit rating of the circuit breakers. The auxiliary cooling tower has damaged and plugged drift eliminators which require replacement for the tower to function properly.

Project Alternatives

A tube for tube replacement approach has been selected for both condensers. The alternative approach is a modular replacement. The modular approach is roughly twice as costly but with only minimal additional benefit. There are no functional alternative to replacing the fan deck and hot water basin. The wood structures are deteriorated and unsafe. There are alternates for replacement material selection and the more durable fiberglass option has been selected.

Technical Aspects

Replace failed wooden deck and hot water basin with fiberglass components.

Project Need Justification

The flue gas desulfurization (FGD) systems are pollution control systems designed to remove sulfur dioxide (SO2) from the gases generated by burning coal. Major maintenance activities on these systems meet the criteria for capitalization. These major maintenance activities occur during planned unit outages with durations between 20 and 50 days. San Juan Unit 1 and San Juan Unit 4 both have planned outages of 50 days in 2015. These activities are necessary to maintain compliance with the Title V Air Permit which, among other things, regulates the emission rate for SO2. Poor performance of the FGD systems will result in either reduced unit output capacity (production of fewer megawatt hours) or out of compliance operation which can result in fines or penalties.

Project Alternatives

This is a major maintenance activity designed to return the systems from worn conditions back to original design specifications, there are no technical alternatives. These activities are mostly remove and replace in-kind with some material upgrades. Operational alternatives would be to reduce unit output but this is not a viable alternative as it would result in higher cost per megawatt hour.

Technical Aspects

Replace existing obsolete pH probes with new probes and install a mounting system that facilitates cleaning without requiring electrical technicians to disconnect the wiring.

All projects will be in service by December 31, 2014

Project Need Justification

This project is part of a group of projects (group includes 76117214, 76117932, 76217132, 76416732) relating to maintenance on the San Juan Flue Gas Desulfurization (FGD) systems. These systems are are pollution control systems designed to remove sulfur dioxide (SO2) from the gases generated by burning coal. Major maintenance activities on these systems meet the criteria for capitalization. These major maintenance activities occur during planned unit outages with durations between 20 and 50 days. San Juan Unit 1 and San Juan Unit 4 both have planned outages of 50 days in 2015. These activities are necessary to maintain compliance with the Title V Air Permit which, among other things, regulates the emission rate for SO2. Poor performance of the FGD systems will result in either reduced unit output capacity (production of fewer megawatt hours) or out of compliance operation which can result in fines or penalties.

Project Alternatives

As these are major maintenance activities designed to return the systems from worn conditions back to original design specifications, there are no technical alternatives. These activities are mostly remove and replace in-kind with some material upgrades. Operational alternatives would be to reduce unit output but this is not a viable alternative as it would result in higher cost per megawatt hour.

Technical Aspects

Remove corroded sections of insulating block and structural concrete, replace corroded reinforcing steel, and restore to original mass and geometry using gummite (spray applied concrete) material

Project Need Justification

This project is one of several projects (see also 76116415, 76116512, 76117432, 76416715, 76417515, 76416215) that relate to the operation of the boiler and combustion optimization. Combustion optimization, steam temperature control and leak detection are all elements of boiler operation which have a direct impact on fuel efficiency and cost of generation. The amount of oxygen and carbon monoxide leaving the boiler reflects the completeness of combustion. The original design had only minimal oxygen and carbon monoxide sensing devices. Early detection of tube leaks allow operators to shut down the boiler before extensive damage occurs. Fine control of steam temperatures are accomplished by using attemperator spray valves. The valves on Unit 4 are in poor condition and require replacement.

Project Alternatives

There is no technical alternative to replacing the attemperator spray valves. This is a maintenance activity that meets the criteria for capitalization. The other projects will produce paybacks of reduced fuel consumption and higher boiler reliability.

Technical Aspects

Project No: 76117514 Unit 1 DA & Tripper Deck Roof

Company: 003
Location: 761

Project Information

List Interim In-Service Dates

These projects complete at various times in 2014, 2015 and 2016 but mainly by December 31 of each year.

Project Need Justification

Routine major maintenance activities that meet the criteria for capitalization are necessary to keep site buildings, access ways, lighting and infrastructure in a safe and reliable condition. This project is part of several projects (76116328, 76116334, 76116335, 76416127, 76416128, 76516036, 76516117, 76516717, 76616231, 76616536, 76617515, 76116114, 76116331, 76117514, 76517524, 76616028, 76616054, 76616115, 76617915, 76716220) that relate to building and structure maintenance requirments. These projects, include replacing roof systems that have had a normal life expectancy and require replacement due to the fact they are reaching the end of life, attending to aging coating systems (typically paint), designing and constructing access platforms to address safety issues, and purchasing scaffolding to reduce rental expense.

Project Alternatives

Building maintenance activities have no alternatives as long as the facilities are occupied and used for production. There is some discretion in the timing of these investments and typically they are arranged (when possible) in years when there are no planned outages as projects in non-outage years typically have less project management demands and lower capital funding requirements.

Technical Aspects

Replace failed roofing with fully adhered roofing system. Roof replacements include removal of the existing ballast and/or fully adhered waterproof membrane, insulation and decking (if necessary). Some of the original roofing systems used asbestos containing materials so abatement is necessary. The new roof systems are using a light weight concrete in lieu of aggregate ballast.

Project No: 76117532 Unit 1 Switchyard Controls to DCS

Company: 003
Location: 761

Project Information

Construction Start Date 1/1/2015 In Service Date Completion Date 05/30/15

List Interim In-Service Dates

Project Need Justification

Changes to control systems are typically implemented during planned outage periods. Both San Juan Unit 1 and Unit 4 have planned outages in 2015. This is one of several projects (see 76116317, 76116622, 76117532, 76128014, 76128015, 76128023, 76328014, 76328015, 76416119, 76428015, 76428518) that is part of a plant wide program to replace aging and/or obsolete control devices (such as pistol grip switches and mechanical devices) with current state of the art devices (such as "soft" switches on computer screens and electronic transmitters). These upgrades allow a reduction in physical space for controls (moving from panel boards to computer screens), consistency in control device philosophy, easier troubleshooting and greater system status information for the unit operators. Routine software upgrades are implement from time to time to address identified bugs and/or security issues. Self documenting software provides both control and communications of changes made in control logic.

Project Alternatives

The only alternative is the "do nothing" alternative. Existing systems can be maintained although with increasing difficulty, increasing expense, and decreasing reliability due to obsolescence issues.

Technical Aspects

Replace existing locally mounted buttons and switches with electronic devices within the DCS system.

List Interim In-Service Dates

Project Need Justification

This project is part of a group of projects (76117614, 76117724, 76117749, 76416012, 76617615, and 76616035) that address equipment obsolescence issues. Replacement of critical equipment is necessary to sustain unit reliability. The automatic voltage regulators, specifically, have deteriorating reliability and their poor performance can become a North America Electric Reliability Council (NERC) issue.

Project Alternatives

The alternative is to continue to maintain the existing equipment but this will become increasingly costly and difficult as replacement parts become harder to find.

Technical Aspects

In kind replacement of obsolete electrical equipment. The equipment replacements with be of similar design but with upgraded materials and solid state controls.

Project Need Justification

This is one of several projects (see also 76116414, 76116914, 76117715, 76416212, 76117618, 76717913) relating to upgrading/maintaining the the circulating water systems that are comprised primarily of condensers and cooling towers. This system condenses steam leaving the turbine and exhauts the waste heat to the atmosphere. Major maintenance on these components can only occur during extended outage periods. Both San Juan Unit 1 and Unit 4 have 50 day planned outages in 2015. The duration of the outages allows maintenance activities which meet the criteria for capitalization to occur. Eddy current testing on both Unit 1 and Unit 4 condensers indicate accelerated instances of tube thinning. This is confirmed by the increasing rate of lost production due to condenser tube leaks. The Unit 1 cooling tower has significant deterioration in the fan deck and hot water basin. The deterioration is severe to the point it creates an unsafe condition for employees. Electrical equipment and the manholes through which cables are routed are also in need or replacement or reconstruction. The electrical loads currently exceed the short circuit rating of the circuit breakers. The auxiliary cooling tower has damaged and plugged drift eliminators which require replacement for the tower to function properly.

Project Alternatives

A tube for tube replacement approach has been selected for both condensers. The alternative approach is a modular replacement. The modular approach is roughly twice as costly but with only minimal additional benefit. There are no functional alternative to replacing the fan deck and hot water basin. The wood structures are deteriorated and unsafe. There are alternates for replacement material selection and the more durable fiberglass option has been selected.

Technical Aspects

Replace electrical equipment that is obsolete and operating in excess of its ratings with modern equipment appropriately sized for the electrical loads. Equipment that will be replaced includes power distribution center containers, switchgear, transformers, variable frequency drives, and controls.

Project No: 76117619 Unit 1 Fire Protection Alarm Check Valve

Company: 003
Location: 761

List Interim In-Service Dates

All of these projects are in service as of October 31, 2014

Project Need Justification

This project is part of a group of projects (group include 76117619, 76216017, 76316314, 76416029, 76516013, 76716212) that incolves updating the fire protection systems at the San Juan Generating Station. Routine inspections of the fire protection systems are conducted by PNM's property insurance company. The insurer recommended installation of a check valve in each of the four turbine room fire protection systems. Fire protection systems on the tripper decks (the location where coal transfers from conveyor belts into storage silos) were determined to be inadequate and a complete overall was required.

Project Alternatives

There are no technical alternative to the check valve installation recommendation. The wet pipe fire suppression technology selected for the tripper decks was evaluated as being more reliable and less costly than dry pipe systems or foam systems.

Technical Aspects

Install a check valve and sensing equipment to alarm on water flow through the system. The check valve installation consists of a flapper type valve with a sensor to detect opening of the valve. The valve only opens when water flows. Flowing water indicates either a discharge at sprinkler head or a leak in the system.

Project No: 76117632 Intelligent Sootblowing in DCS

Company: 003
Location: 761

Project Information

Construction Start Date 10/1/2012 In Service Date Completion Date 03/18/14 Page 1

List Interim In-Service Dates

Project Need Justification

Installation of DCS controls would enable coordination of the sootblowing system with other plant activites to maximize effectiveness and resource use.

Project Alternatives

Continuing to operate with the existing controls may cause a unit trip.

Technical Aspects

Project technical aspects include circuit boards, cabinets, software, and moniitors.

Project No: 76117714 Unit 1 Coal Piping Replacement - 2015

Company: 003
Location: 761

Project Information

Construction Start Date 1/1/2015 In Service Date Completion Date 05/30/15

List Interim In-Service Dates

Project Need Justification

The equipment which prepares and delivers fuel to the boilers consists of many high wear components that require routine replacement. Major maintenance activities on this equipment meet the criteria for capitalization. Routine maintenance is necessary to sustain reliable operation of the generating unit.

Project Alternatives

This is a major maintenance activity designed to return the systems from worn conditions back to original design specifications, there are no technical alternatives. This activity primarily involves removing and replacing equipment with like equipment with some material upgrades, such as the addition of ceramic liners in the pulverizer bowl sections. Operational alternatives would be to reduce unit output but this is not a viable alternative.

Technical Aspects

In kind replacement of thinned piping that conducts pulverized coal from the pulverizers to the burners.

Project Need Justification

This is one of several projects (see also 76116414, 76116914, 76117715, 76416212, 76117618, 76717913) relating to upgrading/maintaining the the circulating water systems that are comprised primarily of condensers and cooling towers. This system condenses steam leaving the turbine and exhauts the waste heat to the atmosphere. Major maintenance on these components can only occur during extended outage periods. Both San Juan Unit 1 and Unit 4 have 50 day planned outages in 2015. The duration of the outages allows maintenance activities which meet the criteria for capitalization to occur. Eddy current testing on both Unit 1 and Unit 4 condensers indicate accelerated instances of tube thinning. This is confirmed by the increasing rate of lost production due to condenser tube leaks. The Unit 1 cooling tower has significant deterioration in the fan deck and hot water basin. The deterioration is severe to the point it creates an unsafe condition for employees. Electrical equipment and the manholes through which cables are routed are also in need or replacement or reconstruction. The electrical loads currently exceed the short circuit rating of the circuit breakers. The auxiliary cooling tower has damaged and plugged drift eliminators which require replacement for the tower to function properly.

Project Alternatives

A tube for tube replacement approach has been selected for both condensers. The alternative approach is a modular replacement. The modular approach is roughly twice as costly but with only minimal additional benefit. There are no functional alternative to replacing the fan deck and hot water basin. The wood structures are deteriorated and unsafe. There are alternates for replacement material selection and the more durable fiberglass option has been selected.

Technical Aspects

Tube for tube replacement of the heat exchanger below the turbine.

Project No: 76117721 SJ U1 MCC Cubicle Buckets Replacements-2011-2015

Company: 003
Location: 761

Project Information

Construction Start Date | In Service Date | Completion Date 09/15/14 | Page 1

List Interim In-Service Dates

These projects will be in service on or before December 31, 2014

Project Need Justification

This group of projects addresses equipment obsolescence and/or equipment failure issues. Replacement of critical equipment is necessary to sustain unit reliability. These projects are maintenance activities that meet the criteria for capitalization.

Project Alternatives

The alternative is to continue to maintain the existing equipment but this will become increasingly costly and difficult as replacment parts become harder to find.

Technical Aspects

The equipment replacements with be of similar design but with upgraded materials and solid state controls.

List Interim In-Service Dates

Project Need Justification

This project is part of a group of projects (76117614, 76117724, 76117749, 76416012, 76617615, 76616035) that address equipment obsolescence issues. Replacement of critical equipment is necessary to sustain unit reliability. The automatic voltage regulators, specifically, have deteriorating reliability and their poor performance can become a North America Electric Reliability Council (NERC) issue.

Project Alternatives

The alternative is to continue to maintain the existing equipment but this will become increasingly costly and difficult as replacement parts become harder to find.

Technical Aspects

In kind replacement of obsolete battery charging equipment. The equipment replacements with be of similar design but with upgraded materials and solid state controls.

Project No: 76117733 Unit 1 Arc Flash Mitigation

Company: 003
Location: 761

Project Information

Construction Start Date 1/1/2015 In Service Date Completion Date 05/30/15

List Interim In-Service Dates

Project Need Justification

This project is part of a group of projects (see also 76116513, 76117733, 76117747, 76416134, 76616036, 77916136, 77917925, 76617132, 76416424) that addresses equipment obsolescence issues and new standards for exposure to potential arc flash energy. Protective relay technology has moved from electromechanical devices to solid state devices. Electromechanical relays are becoming obsolete. OSHA regulations regarding exposure to potential arc flash energy have become more stringent since the San Juan Plant was designed and constructed. Solid state relays can be used to control arc flash incident energy.

Project Alternatives

The existing electromechanical relays could continue to be maintained but the task will become increasingly difficult as parts become less available. The alternative for compliance with arc flash exposure standards is personal protective equipment for employees assigned to task where arc flash exposure occurs.

Technical Aspects

Install relays and maintenance switches which will reduce the available arc flash incident energy. This project is part of a multiyear program to replace electromechanical relays with solid state relays. The relays are located in all areas of the plant - each unit, common areas and the switchyard.

Project No: 76117742 Pulverizer Housing Ceramic Installation

Company: 003
Location: 761

Project Information

List Interim In-Service Dates

Unit 1 related projects will be in service on April 15, 2015.

Project Need Justification

This project is part of a group of projects (group includes 76216323, 76217421, 76117742, 76416634, 76516034) that involves routine maintenance to San Juan Generating Stations' boiler systems (such as feeders, pulverizers, coal piping, burners, etc.). The equipment which prepares and delivers fuel to the boilers consists of many high wear components that require routine replacement. Major maintenance activities on this equipment meet the criteria for capitalization. Routine maintenance is necessary to sustain reliable operation of the generating unit.

Project Alternatives

As these are major maintenance activities designed to return the systems from worn conditions back to original design specifications, there are no technical alternatives. These activities are mostly remove and replace in-kind with some material upgrades, such as the addition of ceramic liners in the pulverizer bowl sections. Operational alternatives would be to reduce unit output but this is not a viable alternative.

Technical Aspects

Install ceramic tiles and/or trowelable ceramic coating to prevent wear in the bowl section of the pulverizers

Project No: 76117744 Unit 1 Bottom Ash Casing Replacement

Company: 003
Location: 761

Project Information

Construction Start Date 1/1/2015 In Service Date Completion Date 12/31/14 Page 1

List Interim In-Service Dates

Project Need Justification

The boiler is second only to the turbine-generator in ranking of critical assets in a coal fired generating unit. Major maintenance activities on this asset meet the criteria for capitalization. These major maintenance activities occur during planned unit outages with durations between 20 and 50 days. San Juan Unit 1 has a planned outage of 50 days in 2015. The scope of work is driven by performance issues that have resulted in unscheduled and forced outages. These investments will address reliability issues.

Project Alternatives

This is a major maintenance activity designed to return the asset from worn conditions back to original design specifications, there are no technical alternatives. This activity involves the removal and replacement of in-kind equipment with some material upgrades and design improvements to address known problems within the boiler. Operational alternatives would be to reduce unit output and/or accept a lower unit reliability but these are not viable alternatives.

Technical Aspects

In kind replacement of the boiler seal skirt and bottom ash refractory cooling water headers. Replace existing manual controls with DCS controls.

Project Need Justification

The flue gas desulfurization (FGD) systems are pollution control systems designed to remove sulfur dioxide (SO2) from the gases generated by burning coal. Major maintenance activities on these systems meet the criteria for capitalization. These major maintenance activities occur during planned unit outages with durations between 20 and 50 days. San Juan Unit 1 and San Juan Unit 4 both have planned outages of 50 days in 2015. These activities are necessary to maintain compliance with the Title V Air Permit which, among other things, regulates the emission rate for SO2. Poor performance of the FGD systems will result in either reduced unit output capacity (production of fewer megawatt hours) or out of compliance operation which can result in fines or penalties.

Project Alternatives

This is a major maintenance activity designed to return the systems from worn conditions back to original design specifications, there are no technical alternatives. These activities are mostly remove and replace in-kind with some material upgrades. Operational alternatives would be to reduce unit output but this is not a viable alternative as it would result in higher cost per megawatt hour.

Technical Aspects

In kind replacement of plastic chevrons and supports.

List Interim In-Service Dates

Project Need Justification

This project is part of a group of projects (see also 76116513, 76117733, 76117747, 76416134, 76616036, 77916136, 77917925, 76617132, 76416424) that addresses equipment obsolescence issues and new standards for exposure to potential arc flash energy. Protective relay technology has moved from electromechanical devices to solid state devices. Electromechanical relays are becoming obsolete. OSHA regulations regarding exposure to potential arc flash energy have become more stringent since the San Juan Plant was designed and constructed. Solid state relays can be used to control arc flash incident energy.

Project Alternatives

The existing electromechanical relays could continue to be maintained but the task will become increasingly difficult as parts become less available. The alternative for compliance with arc flash exposure standards is personal protective equipment for employees assigned to task where arc flash exposure occurs.

Technical Aspects

Replace obsolete electromechanical relays with solid state devices. This project is part of a multiyear program to replace electromechanical relays with solid state relays. The relays are located in all areas of the plant - each unit, common areas and the switchyard.

Project No: 76117749 Automatic Voltage Regulator Replacement

Company: 003
Location: 761

Project Information

Construction Start Date 1/1/2015 In Service Date Completion Date 06/30/15 Page 1

List Interim In-Service Dates

Project Need Justification

This project is part of a group of projects (76117614, 76117724, 76117749, 76416012, 76617615, 76616035) that address equipment obsolescence issues. Replacement of critical equipment is necessary to sustain unit reliability. The automatic voltage regulators, specifically, have deteriorating reliability and their poor performance can become a North America Electric Reliability Council (NERC) issue.

Project Alternatives

The alternative is to continue to maintain the existing equipment but this will become increasingly costly and difficult as replacement parts become harder to find.

Technical Aspects

In kind replacement of obsolete electrical equipment. The equipment replacements with be of similar design but with upgraded materials and solid state controls.

Project Need Justification

This projects is part of several projects (see 76117813, 76416019, 76516015, 76516215, 76617015, 76628036, 76628515, 76628634, 76716015) that address obsolesce issues in various local control systems. The original controls are mainly local panels with mechanical and electromechanical devices. They are being replaced with Programmable Logic Controllers (PLCs) which can be connected to the Distributed Control System (DCS). This enables monitoring and operation from the control room as well as locally. As with all microprocessor based systems, upgrades are required periodically, including replacement of Input/Output (I/O) circuit boards and Control Processors (CPs).

Project Alternatives

The alternative is to continue to maintain the existing equipment but this will become increasingly costly and difficult as replacement parts become harder to find.

Technical Aspects

Replace existing obsolete controls with state of the art electronic devices.

List Interim In-Service Dates

These systems will be in service by December 31, 2014

Project Need Justification

This project is part of a group of projects (group includes 76116714, 76117821, 76316532, 76416232, 76516072, 76617215, 76616311, 76717514, 76716015, 76617232) that addresses obsolesce issues in various local control systems. The original controls are mainly local panels with mechanical and electromechanical devices. They are being replaced with Programmable Logic Controllers (PLCs) which can be connected to the Distributed Control System (DCS). This will enable monitoring and operation from the control room as well as locally. As with all microprocessor based systems, upgrades are required periodically, including replacement of Input/Output (I/O) circuit boards and Control Processors (CPs).

Project Alternatives

The alternative is to continue to maintain the existing equipment but this will become increasingly costly and difficult as replacement parts become harder to find.

Technical Aspects

Install vibration monitoring equipment on the boiler feed pumps

Project No: 76117825 Unit 1 Cooling Tower Slip Stream Filtration

Company: 003
Location: 761

Project Information

Construction Start Date 1/1/2015 In Service Date Completion Date 08/31/16 Page 1

List Interim In-Service Dates

Project Need Justification

Process improvement and reduce maintenance expense. Install equipment to reduce suspended solids in cooling tower water used in process cooling applications.

Project Alternatives

No viable alternatives.

Technical Aspects

Piping, filters and possibly pumps.

Project No: 76117914 Unit 1 Expansion Joint Replacement - 2015

Company: 003
Location: 761

Project Information

Construction Start Date 1/1/2015 In Service Date Completion Date 05/30/15

List Interim In-Service Dates

Project Need Justification

Fabric expansion joints wear over time due to erosion; therefore there is a need to replace those that are leaking. As the expansion joints leak, they cause increased volume on the forced draft fans. This increase in volume will eventually overcome the ability for the forced draft fans to provide air to the boiler which could result in unit curtailments.

Project Alternatives

There are no viable alternatives to this project.

Project No: 76117915 Unit 1 Economizer Ash Removal

Company: 003
Location: 761

Project Information

Construction Start Date | In Service Date | Completion Date 05/01/15

List Interim In-Service Dates

The Unit 1 project will be in service by April 15, 2015.

Project Need Justification

The boiler economizer ash removal systems were taken out of service on all San Juan boilers several years ago. Removal of this equipment has resulted in the accumulation of large volumes of ash in the areas where the equipment was located. The weight of the accumulated ash has resulted in duct and duct hanger failures. Installation of new ash removal equipment is needed to prevent future duct and duct hanger failures.

Project Alternatives

Given the impact on reliability resulting from the removal of the original equipment, the alternative would be to accepted the reduced reliability of the unit.

Technical Aspects

Installation of new ash removal equipment including dry flite chain conveyor, ash crusher, discharge chute, day tank, instrumentation, and controls on Unit 1.

List Interim In-Service Dates

All projects will be in service by December 31, 2014

Project Need Justification

This project is part of a group of projects (group includes 76117214, 76117932, 76217132, 76416732) relating to maintenance on the San Juan Flue Gas Desulfurization (FGD) systems. These systems are are pollution control systems designed to remove sulfur dioxide (SO2) from the gases generated by burning coal. Major maintenance activities on these systems meet the criteria for capitalization. These major maintenance activities occur during planned unit outages with durations between 20 and 50 days. San Juan Unit 1 and San Juan Unit 4 both have planned outages of 50 days in 2015. These activities are necessary to maintain compliance with the Title V Air Permit which, among other things, regulates the emission rate for SO2. Poor performance of the FGD systems will result in either reduced unit output capacity (production of fewer megawatt hours) or out of compliance operation which can result in fines or penalties.

Project Alternatives

As these are major maintenance activities designed to return the systems from worn conditions back to original design specifications, there are no technical alternatives. These activities are mostly remove and replace in-kind with some material upgrades. Operational alternatives would be to reduce unit output but this is not a viable alternative as it would result in higher cost per megawatt hour.

Technical Aspects

Replace three (3) nuclear source based density sensing instruments with non-nuclear coriolis based density sensing instruments

Project Need Justification

The flue gas desulfurization (FGD) systems are pollution control systems designed to remove sulfur dioxide (SO2) from the gases generated by burning coal. Major maintenance activities on these systems meet the criteria for capitalization. These major maintenance activities occur during planned unit outages with durations between 20 and 50 days. San Juan Unit 1 and San Juan Unit 4 both have planned outages of 50 days in 2015. These activities are necessary to maintain compliance with the Title V Air Permit which, among other things, regulates the emission rate for SO2. Poor performance of the FGD systems will result in either reduced unit output capacity (production of fewer megawatt hours) or out of compliance operation which can result in fines or penalties.

Project Alternatives

This is a major maintenance activity designed to return the systems from worn conditions back to original design specifications, there are no technical alternatives. These activities are mostly remove and replace in-kind with some material upgrades. Operational alternatives would be to reduce unit output but this is not a viable alternative as it would result in higher cost per megawatt hour.

Technical Aspects

Install discharge isolation valves on six pumps.

Project Need Justification

Changes to control systems are typically implemented during planned outage periods. Both San Juan Unit 1 and Unit 4 have planned outages in 2015. This is one of several projects (see 76116317, 76116622, 76117532, 76128014, 76128015, 76128023, 76328014, 76328015, 76416119, 76428015, 76428518) that is part of a plant wide program to replace aging and/or obsolete control devices (such as pistol grip switches and mechanical devices) with current state of the art devices (such as "soft" switches on computer screens and electronic transmitters). These upgrades allow a reduction in physical space for controls (moving from panel boards to computer screens), consistency in control device philosophy, easier troubleshooting and greater system status information for the unit operators. Routine software upgrades are implement from time to time to address identified bugs and/or security issues. Self documenting software provides both control and communications of changes made in control logic.

Project Alternatives

The only alternative is the "do nothing" alternative. Existing systems can be maintained although with increasing difficulty, increasing expense, and decreasing reliability due to obsolescence issues.

Technical Aspects

Upgrade operating system software to latest (and most secure) release.

Project Need Justification

Changes to control systems are typically implemented during planned outage periods. Both San Juan Unit 1 and Unit 4 have planned outages in 2015. This is one of several projects (see 76116317, 76116622, 76117532, 76128014, 76128015, 76128023, 76328014, 76328015, 76416119, 76428015, 76428518) that is part of a plant wide program to replace aging and/or obsolete control devices (such as pistol grip switches and mechanical devices) with current state of the art devices (such as "soft" switches on computer screens and electronic transmitters). These upgrades allow a reduction in physical space for controls (moving from panel boards to computer screens), consistency in control device philosophy, easier troubleshooting and greater system status information for the unit operators. Routine software upgrades are implement from time to time to address identified bugs and/or security issues. Self documenting software provides both control and communications of changes made in control logic. This project also reduces the administrative effort of NERC compliance.

Project Alternatives

The only alternative is the "do nothing" alternative. Existing systems can be maintained although with increasing difficulty, increasing expense, and decreasing reliability due to obsolescence issues.

Technical Aspects

Install software that automatically documents and reports configuration changes.

Project Need Justification

This project is part of a group of projects (group include 76117619, 76216017, 76316314, 76416029, 76516013, 76716212) that incolves updating the fire protection systems at the San Juan Generating Station. Routine inspections of the fire protection systems are conducted by PNM's property insurance company. The insurer recommended installation of a check valve in each of the four turbine room fire protection systems. Fire protection systems on the tripper decks (the location where coal transfers from conveyor belts into storage silos) were determined to be inadequate and a complete overall was required.

Project Alternatives

There are no technical alternative to the check valve installation recommendation. The wet pipe fire suppression technology selected for the tripper decks was evaluated as being more reliable and less costly than dry pipe systems or foam systems.

Technical Aspects

Install a check valve and sensing equipment to alarm on water flow through the system. The check valve installation consist of a flapper type valve with a sensor to detect opening of the valve. The valve only opens when water flows. Flowing water indicates either a discharge at sprinkler head or a leak in the system.

Project No: 76216121 SJ U2 MCC Cubicles Bucket Replacements

Company: 003
Location: 762

Project Information

Construction Start Date | In Service Date | Completion Date 02/28/14 | Page 1

List Interim In-Service Dates

These projects will be in service on or before December 31, 2014

Project Need Justification

This group of projects addresses equipment obsolescence and/or equipment failure issues. Replacement of critical equipment is necessary to sustain unit reliability. These projects are maintenance activities that meet the criteria for capitalization.

Project Alternatives

The alternative is to continue to maintain the existing equipment but this will become increasingly costly and difficult as replacment parts become harder to find.

Technical Aspects

The equipment replacements with be of similar design but with upgraded materials and solid state controls.

Project No: 76216136 Unit 2 Replace Generator Hydrogen Monitor

Company: 003
Location: 762

Project Information

Construction Start Date | In Service Date | Completion Date 05/30/14 | Page 1

List Interim In-Service Dates

This equipment is in service.

Project Need Justification

Hydrogen gas is used as a cooling media in the generators. Proper hydrogen pressure and purity are essential to proper operation. The originally installed pressure and purity instruments are obsolete and unreliable therefore, replacement is necessary.

Project Alternatives

Given the condition of the existing instruments, maintenance is not an alternative. A complete replacement is required.

Technical Aspects

Replace the existing pressure and purity sensors and transmitters with state of the art sensing devices and electronic signal transmitters.

Project Need Justification

This project is part of a group of projects (group includes 76216323, 76217421, 76117742, 76416634, 76516034) that involves routine maintenance to San Juan Generating Stations' boiler systems (such as feeders, pulverizers, coal piping, burners, etc.). The equipment which prepares and delivers fuel to the boilers consists of many high wear components that require routine replacement. Major maintenance activities on this equipment meet the criteria for capitalization. Routine maintenance is necessary to sustain reliable operation of the generating unit.

Project Alternatives

As these are major maintenance activities designed to return the systems from worn conditions back to original design specifications, there are no technical alternatives. These activities are mostly remove and replace in-kind with some material upgrades, such as the addition of ceramic liners in the pulverizer bowl sections. Operational alternatives would be to reduce unit output but this is not a viable alternative.

Technical Aspects

In kind replacement of thinned piping that conducts pulverized coal from the pulverizers to the burners. Coal piping replacement is based on an assessment typically conducted about six months prior to a planned unit outage. Piping have low wall thickness is marked for removal and replacement. Wear typically occurs at and around piping elbows. Heavy wall steel pipe is used in this application.

Project No: 76216432 FLY ASH CONTROLS IN DCS

Company: 003
Location: 762

Project Information

Construction Start Date | In Service Date | Completion Date 09/01/14

List Interim In-Service Dates

These projects will be in service on or before December 31, 2014

Project Need Justification

These projects are part of a plant wide program to replace aging and/or obsolete control devices (such as pistol grip switches and mechanical devices) with current state of the art devices (such as "soft" switches on computer screens and electronic transmitters). These upgrades allow a reduction in physical space for controls (moving from panel boards to computer screens), consistency in control device philosophy, easier troubleshooting and greater system status information for the unit operators. Routine software upgrades are implement from time to time to address identified bugs and/or security issues. Self documenting software provides both control and communications of changes made in control logic.

Project Alternatives

The only alternative is the "do nothing" alternative. Existing systems can be maintained although with increasing difficulty, increasing expense and decreasing reliability due to obsolescence issues.

Technical Aspects

Replace existing locally mounted buttons and switches with electronic devices within the DCS system

Project No: 76216521 SJ U2 Replace Broken Undersized hangers

Company: 003
Location: 762

Project Information

Construction Start Date | In Service Date | Completion Date 02/22/13 | Page 1

List Interim In-Service Dates

These projects are in service

Project Need Justification

Industry experience has shown that the use of certain types of high pressure steam pipe hangers can cause cracks to develop over time. The hangers need to be replaced to prevent potentially catastrophic pipe failures.

Project Alternatives

An extensive monitoring program can be implemented but this will only reduce the risk of a potentially catastrophic piping failure. The industry standard response to this condition is to replace pipe hanger attachments, supports and restraints.

Technical Aspects

Replace pipe attachments, hangers and restraints (i.e., snubbers) on Unit 2

List Interim In-Service Dates

All projects will be in service by December 31, 2014

Project Need Justification

This project is part of a group of projects (group includes 76117214, 76117932, 76217132, 76416732) relating to maintenance on the San Juan Flue Gas Desulfurization (FGD) systems. These systems are are pollution control systems designed to remove sulfur dioxide (SO2) from the gases generated by burning coal. Major maintenance activities on these systems meet the criteria for capitalization. These major maintenance activities occur during planned unit outages with durations between 20 and 50 days. San Juan Unit 1 and San Juan Unit 4 both have planned outages of 50 days in 2015. These activities are necessary to maintain compliance with the Title V Air Permit which, among other things, regulates the emission rate for SO2. Poor performance of the FGD systems will result in either reduced unit output capacity (production of fewer megawatt hours) or out of compliance operation which can result in fines or penalties.

Project Alternatives

As these are major maintenance activities designed to return the systems from worn conditions back to original design specifications, there are no technical alternatives. These activities are mostly remove and replace in-kind with some material upgrades. Operational alternatives would be to reduce unit output but this is not a viable alternative as it would result in higher cost per megawatt hour.

Technical Aspects

Replace three (3) nuclear source based density sensing instruments with non-nuclear coriolis based density sensing instruments

Project Need Justification

This project is part of a group of projects (group includes 76216323, 76217421, 76117742, 76416634, 76516034) that involves routine maintenance to San Juan Generating Stations' boiler systems (such as feeders, pulverizers, coal piping, burners, etc.). The equipment which prepares and delivers fuel to the boilers consists of many high wear components that require routine replacement. Major maintenance activities on this equipment meet the criteria for capitalization. Routine maintenance is necessary to sustain reliable operation of the generating unit.

Project Alternatives

As these are major maintenance activities designed to return the systems from worn conditions back to original design specifications, there are no technical alternatives. These activities are mostly remove and replace in-kind with some material upgrades, such as the addition of ceramic liners in the pulverizer bowl sections. Operational alternatives would be to reduce unit output but this is not a viable alternative.

Technical Aspects

In kind replacement of thinned steel blades that control the fineness of coal particles sent to the boiler for combustion

Project Information

Construction Start Date | In Service Date | Completion Date 09/30/14

List Interim In-Service Dates

These projects will be in service on or before December 31, 2014

Project Need Justification

This is part of a group of projects (group includes 76228122, 76616222, and 76617732) that is part of a plant wide program to replace aging and/or obsolete control devices (such as pistol grip switches and mechanical devices) with current state of the art devices (such as "soft" switches on computer screens and electronic transmitters). These upgrades allow a reduction in physical space for controls (moving from panel boards to computer screens), consistency in control device philosophy, easier troubleshooting, and greater system status information for the unit operators. Routine software upgrades are implement from time to time to address identified bugs and/or security issues. Self documenting software provides both control and communications of changes made in control logic.

Project Alternatives

The only alternative is the "do nothing" alternative. Existing systems can be maintained although with increasing difficulty, increasing expense and decreasing reliability due to obsolescence issues.

Technical Aspects

Install software that documents and reports configuration changes

Project No: 76316314 Unit 3 Fire Protection Alarm Check Valve

Company: 003
Location: 763

Project Information

List Interim In-Service Dates

All of these projects are in service as of October 31, 2014

Project Need Justification

This project is part of a group of projects (group include 76117619, 76216017, 76316314, 76416029, 76516013, 76716212) that incolves updating the fire protection systems at the San Juan Generating Station. Routine inspections of the fire protection systems are conducted by PNM's property insurance company. The insurer recommended installation of a check valve in each of the four turbine room fire protection systems. Fire protection systems on the tripper decks (the location where coal transfers from conveyor belts into storage silos) were determined to be inadequate and a complete overall was required.

Project Alternatives

There are no technical alternative to the check valve installation recommendation. The wet pipe fire suppression technology selected for the tripper decks was evaluated as being more reliable and less costly than dry pipe systems or foam systems.

Technical Aspects

Install a check valve and sensing equipment to alarm on water flow through the system. The check valve installation consist of a flapper type valve with a sensor to detect opening of the valve. The valve only opens when water flows. Flowing water indicates either a discharge at sprinkler head or a leak in the system.

Project No: 76316532 UPGRADE SAMPLE PANEL AND CHEMICAL FEED SYSTEM

Company: 003
Location: 763

Project Information

Construction Start Date | In Service Date | Completion Date 07/24/14

List Interim In-Service Dates

These systems will be in service by December 31, 2014

Project Need Justification

This project is part of a group of projects (group includes 76116714, 76117821, 76316532, 76416232, 76516072, 76617215, 76616311, 76717514, 76716015, 76617232) that addresses obsolesce issues in various local control systems. The original controls are mainly local panels with mechanical and electromechanical devices. They are being replaced with Programmable Logic Controllers (PLCs) which can be connected to the Distributed Control System (DCS). This will enable monitoring and operation from the control room as well as locally. As with all microprocessor based systems, upgrades are required periodically, including replacement of Input/Output (I/O) circuit boards and Control Processors (CPs).

Project Alternatives

The alternative is to continue to maintain the existing equipment but this will become increasingly costly and difficult as replacement parts become harder to find.

Technical Aspects

Replace existing obsolete controls with state of the art electronic devices (e.g., circuit boards, wiring, processors, graphical interfaces and control logic programming)

Project No: 76317132 ABSORBER MIST ELIMINATOR WASH PIPING

Company: 003
Location: 763

Project Information

Construction Start Date | In Service Date | Completion Date 07/31/13 | Page 1

List Interim In-Service Dates

All projects will be in service by December 31, 2014

Project Need Justification

The flue gas desulfurization (FGD) systems are pollution control systems designed to remove sulfur dioxide (SO2) from the gases generated by burning coal. Major maintenance activities on these systems meet the criteria for capitalization. These activities are necessary to maintain compliance with the Title V Air Permit which, among other things, regulates the emission rate for SO2. Poor performance of the FGD systems will result in either reduced unit output capacity (production of fewer megawatt hours) or out of compliance operation which can result in fines or penalties.

Project Alternatives

As these are major maintenance activities designed to return the systems from worn conditions back to original design specifications, there are no technical alternatives. These activities are mostly remove and replace in-kind with some material upgrades. Operational alternatives would be to reduce unit output but this is not a viable alternative as it would result in higher cost per megawatt hour.

Technical Aspects

Mist eliminators are plastic chevrons that prevent water droplets from leaving the absorber tower and exhausting out the chimney. Fine particulate matter in the large water droplets adheres to the chevrons and the droplets fall. Periodic washing of the chevrons is required to sustain design performance. The wash water piping consists of fiberglass piping, pipe supports and nozzles.

Project No: 76317221 SJ U3 New hanger - snubbers and support steel

Company: 003
Location: 763

Project Information

List Interim In-Service Dates

These projects are in service

Project Need Justification

Industry experience has shown that the use of certain types of high pressure steam pipe hangers can cause cracks to develop over time. The hangers need to be replaced to prevent potentially catastrophic pipe failures.

Project Alternatives

An extensive monitoring program can be implemented but this will only reduce the risk of a potentially catastrophic piping failure. The industry standard response to this condition is to replace pipe hanger attachments, supports and restraints.

Technical Aspects

Replace pipe attachments, hangers and restraints (i.e., snubbers) on Unit 3

Project No: 76328014 Unit 3 Foxboro I/A Version 8.8 NERC

Company: 003
Location: 763

Project Information

Construction Start Date | In Service Date | Completion Date 02/01/15

List Interim In-Service Dates

Unit 3 related projects will be in service on December 31, 2015.

Project Need Justification

Changes to control systems are typically implemented during planned outage periods. Both San Juan Unit 1 and Unit 4 have planned outages in 2015. This is one of several projects (see 76116317, 76116622, 76117532, 76128014, 76128015, 76128023, 76328014, 76328015, 76416119, 76428015, 76428518) that is part of a plant wide program to replace aging and/or obsolete control devices (such as pistol grip switches and mechanical devices) with current state of the art devices (such as "soft" switches on computer screens and electronic transmitters). These upgrades allow a reduction in physical space for controls (moving from panel boards to computer screens), consistency in control device philosophy, easier troubleshooting and greater system status information for the unit operators. Routine software upgrades are implement from time to time to address identified bugs and/or security issues. Self documenting software provides both control and communications of changes made in control logic.

Project Alternatives

The only alternative is the "do nothing" alternative. Existing systems can be maintained although with increasing difficulty, increasing expense, and decreasing reliability due to obsolescence issues.

Technical Aspects

Upgrade operating system software to latest (and most secure) release. Logic modifications, software version changes and self-documenting capability are all software upgrades needed to keep the operating systems at the latest revision level.

Project Information

Construction Start Date | In Service Date | Completion Date 02/28/15

List Interim In-Service Dates

Unit 3 related projects will be in service on December 31, 2015.

Project Need Justification

Changes to control systems are typically implemented during planned outage periods. Both San Juan Unit 1 and Unit 4 have planned outages in 2015. This is one of several projects (see 76116317, 76116622, 76117532, 76128014, 76128015, 76128023, 76328014, 76328015, 76416119, 76428015, 76428518) that is part of a plant wide program to replace aging and/or obsolete control devices (such as pistol grip switches and mechanical devices) with current state of the art devices (such as "soft" switches on computer screens and electronic transmitters). These upgrades allow a reduction in physical space for controls (moving from panel boards to computer screens), consistency in control device philosophy, easier troubleshooting and greater system status information for the unit operators. Routine software upgrades are implement from time to time to address identified bugs and/or security issues. Self documenting software provides both control and communications of changes made in control logic.

Project Alternatives

The only alternative is the "do nothing" alternative. Existing systems can be maintained although with increasing difficulty, increasing expense, and decreasing reliability due to obsolescence issues.

Technical Aspects

Install software that documents and reports configuration changes. Software version changes and self-documenting capability are software upgrades needed to keep the operating systems at the latest revision level.

Project No: 76416012 Unit 4 Automatic Voltage Regulator Replacement

Company: 003
Location: 764

Project Information

Construction Start Date 1/1/2015 In Service Date Completion Date 12/30/15 Page 1

List Interim In-Service Dates

Project Need Justification

This project is part of a group of projects (76117614, 76117724, 76117749, 76416012, 76617615, 76616035) that address equipment obsolescence issues. Replacement of critical equipment is necessary to sustain unit reliability. The automatic voltage regulators, specifically, have deteriorating reliability and their poor performance can become a North America Electric Reliability Council (NERC) issue.

Project Alternatives

The alternative is to continue to maintain the existing equipment but this will become increasingly costly and difficult as replacement parts become harder to find.

Technical Aspects

In kind replacement of obsolete electrical equipment. The equipment replacements with be of similar design but with upgraded materials and solid state controls.

Company: 003
Location: 764

Project Information

Construction Start Date 6/1/2015 In Service Date Completion Date 12/30/15

List Interim In-Service Dates

Project Need Justification

This projects is part of several projects (see 76117813, 76416019, 76516015, 76516215, 76617015, 76628036, 76628515, 76628634, 76716015) that address obsolesce issues in various local control systems. The original controls are mainly local panels with mechanical and electromechanical devices. They are being replaced with Programmable Logic Controllers (PLCs) which can be connected to the Distributed Control System (DCS). This enables monitoring and operation from the control room as well as locally. As with all microprocessor based systems, upgrades are required periodically, including replacement of Input/Output (I/O) circuit boards and Control Processors (CPs).

Project Alternatives

The alternative is to continue to maintain the existing equipment but this will become increasingly costly and difficult as replacement parts become harder to find.

Technical Aspects

Replace existing obsolete controls with state of the art electronic devices

Project No: 76416029 Unit 4 Fire Protection Alarm Check Valve

Company: 003
Location: 764

List Interim In-Service Dates

All of these projects are in service as of October 31, 2014

Project Need Justification

This project is part of a group of projects (group include 76117619, 76216017, 76316314, 76416029, 76516013, 76716212) that incolves updating the fire protection systems at the San Juan Generating Station. Routine inspections of the fire protection systems are conducted by PNM's property insurance company. The insurer recommended installation of a check valve in each of the four turbine room fire protection systems. Fire protection systems on the tripper decks (the location where coal transfers from conveyor belts into storage silos) were determined to be inadequate and a complete overall was required.

Project Alternatives

There are no technical alternative to the check valve installation recommendation. The wet pipe fire suppression technology selected for the tripper decks was evaluated as being more reliable and less costly than dry pipe systems or foam systems.

Technical Aspects

Install a check valve and sensing equipment to alarm on water flow through the system. The check valve installation consist of a flapper type valve with a sensor to detect opening of the valve. The valve only opens when water flows. Flowing water indicates either a discharge at sprinkler head or a leak in the system.

Project No: 76416039 Unit 4 Bottom Ash Drag Chain

Company: 003
Location: 764

Project Information

Construction Start Date 1/1/2015 In Service Date Completion Date 12/20/15 Page 1

List Interim In-Service Dates

Project Need Justification

The existing bottom ash removal system is a leading driver of maintenance expense and lost availability. A business case has been performed using conservative consumptions and this project has a high rate of return and a payback of 4.5 years.

Project Alternatives

A submerged flite chain conveyor is the newest technology for bottom ash removal. The alternative is to maintain the existing systems.

Technical Aspects

Install a submerged flite chain conveyor in the bottom ash removal system and retire the existing bottom ash hopper, clinker grinders, jet pulsion pumps, high pressure ash water system and ash dewatering system equipment. The complete scope of structural, piping, electrical and controls modifications cannot be identified until conceptual engineering is complete.

Project No: 76416119 Unit 4 DCS Control Logic Modifications - 2015

Company: 003
Location: 764

Project Information

Construction Start Date 1/1/2015 In Service Date Completion Date 12/15/15

List Interim In-Service Dates

Project Need Justification

Changes to control systems are typically implemented during planned outage periods. Both San Juan Unit 1 and Unit 4 have planned outages in 2015. This is one of several projects (see 76116317, 76116622, 76117532, 76128014, 76128015, 76128023, 76328014, 76328015, 76416119, 76428015, 76428518) that is part of a plant wide program to replace aging and/or obsolete control devices (such as pistol grip switches and mechanical devices) with current state of the art devices (such as "soft" switches on computer screens and electronic transmitters). These upgrades allow a reduction in physical space for controls (moving from panel boards to computer screens), consistency in control device philosophy, easier troubleshooting and greater system status information for the unit operators. Routine software upgrades are implement from time to time to address identified bugs and/or security issues. Self documenting software provides both control and communications of changes made in control logic.

Project Alternatives

The only alternative is the "do nothing" alternative. Existing systems can be maintained although with increasing difficulty, increasing expense, and decreasing reliability due to obsolescence issues.

Technical Aspects

Change control system programming to support implementation of best control practices.

Project Need Justification

Routine major maintenance activities that meet the criteria for capitalization are necessary to keep site buildings, access ways, lighting and infrastructure in a safe and reliable condition. This project is part of several projects (76116328, 76116334, 76116335, 76416127, 76416128, 76516036, 76516117, 76516717, 76616231, 76616536, 76617515, 76116114, 76116331, 76117514, 76517524, 76616028, 76616054, 76616115, 76617915, and 76716220) that relate to building and structure maintenance requirments. These projects, include replacing roof systems that have had a normal life expectancy and require replacement due to the fact they are reaching the end of life, attending to aging coating systems (typically paint), designing and constructing access platforms to address safety issues, and purchasing scaffolding to reduce rental expense.

Project Alternatives

Building maintenance activities have no alternatives as long as the facilities are occupied and used for production. There is some discretion in the timing of these investments and typically they are arranged (when possible) in years when there are no planned outages as projects in non-outage years typically have less project management demands and lower capital funding requirements.

Technical Aspects

Construct steel framed structures with grating surfaces to enhance access to equipment. Platforms are typically steel frames with grating surfaces and either stair risers and stringers or caged ladders.

Project Need Justification

Routine major maintenance activities that meet the criteria for capitalization are necessary to keep site buildings, access ways, lighting and infrastructure in a safe and reliable condition. This project is part of several projects (76116328, 76116334, 76116335, 76416127, 76416128, 76516036, 76516117, 76516717, 76616231, 76616536, 76617515, 76116114, 76116331, 76117514, 76517524, 76616028, 76616054, 76616115, 76617915, 76716220) that relate to building and structure maintenance requirments. These projects, include replacing roof systems that have had a normal life expectancy and require replacement due to the fact they are reaching the end of life, attending to aging coating systems (typically paint), designing and constructing access platforms to address safety issues, and purchasing scaffolding to reduce rental expense.

Project Alternatives

Building maintenance activities have no alternatives as long as the facilities are occupied and used for production. There is some discretion in the timing of these investments and typically they are arranged (when possible) in years when there are no planned outages as projects in non-outage years typically have less project management demands and lower capital funding requirements.

Technical Aspects

Construct steel framed structures with grating surfaces to enhance access to equipment. Platforms are typically steel frames with grating surfaces and either stair risers and stringers or caged ladders.

Project No: 76416132 DCS CONTROL LOGIC UPGRADES AND MODIFICATIONS

Company: 003
Location: 764

Project Information

Construction Start Date | In Service Date | Completion Date 02/15/15 | Page 1

List Interim In-Service Dates

These projects will be in service on or before December 31, 2014

Project Need Justification

These projects are part of a plant wide program to replace aging and/or obsolete control devices (such as pistol grip switches and mechanical devices) with current state of the art devices (such as "soft" switches on computer screens and electronic transmitters). These upgrades allow a reduction in physical space for controls (moving from panel boards to computer screens), consistency in control device philosophy, easier troubleshooting and greater system status information for the unit operators. Routine software upgrades are implement from time to time to address identified bugs and/or security issues. Self documenting software provides both control and communications of changes made in control logic.

Project Alternatives

The only alternative is the "do nothing" alternative. Existing systems can be maintained although with increasing difficulty, increasing expense and decreasing reliability due to obsolescence issues.

Technical Aspects

Change control system programming to support implementation of best control practices

Project Need Justification

This project is part of a group of projects (see also 76116513, 76117733, 76117747, 76416134, 76616036, 77916136, 77917925, 76617132, 76416424) that addresses equipment obsolescence issues and new standards for exposure to potential arc flash energy. Protective relay technology has moved from electromechanical devices to solid state devices. Electromechanical relays are becoming obsolete. OSHA regulations regarding exposure to potential arc flash energy have become more stringent since the San Juan Plant was designed and constructed. Solid state relays can be used to control arc flash incident energy.

Project Alternatives

The existing electromechanical relays could continue to be maintained but the task will become increasingly difficult as parts become less available. The alternative for compliance with arc flash exposure standards is personal protective equipment for employees assigned to task where arc flash exposure occurs.

Technical Aspects

Replace obsolete electromechanical relays with solid state devices. This project is part of a multiyear program to replace electromechanical relays with solid state relays. The relays are located in all areas of the plant - each unit, common areas and the switchyard.

Project No: 76416212 Unit 4 Retube Condenser

Company: 003
Location: 764

Project Information

Construction Start Date 2/1/2015 In Service Date Completion Date 12/30/15 Page 1

List Interim In-Service Dates

Project Need Justification

The current condenser tubes are the original tubes installed when unit went on line. This unit is suffering curtailments due to leaking condenser tubes and fouling of the tubes. These curtailments has increased unbudgeted maintenance on the unit to plug the tubes as well decreased efficiency of the condenser. The recommendation from the manufacturer is to replace the condenser at 10% pluggage. The condenser is almost at that level now and should be replaced.

Project Alternatives

Continue to plug tubes as they wear. This will eventually cause a permanent curtailment issue due to back pressure.

Technical Aspects

Tube for tube replacement of the heat exchanger below the turbine.

Project Need Justification

This project is one of several projects (see also 76116415, 76116512, 76117432, 76416715, 76417515, 76416215) that relate to the operation of the boiler and combustion optimization. Combustion optimization, steam temperature control and leak detection are all elements of boiler operation which have a direct impact on fuel efficiency and cost of generation. The amount of oxygen and carbon monoxide leaving the boiler reflects the completeness of combustion. The original design had only minimal oxygen and carbon monoxide sensing devices. Early detection of tube leaks allow operators to shut down the boiler before extensive damage occurs. Fine control of steam temperatures are accomplished by using attemperator spray valves. The valves on Unit 4 are in poor condition and require replacement.

Project Alternatives

There is no technical alternative to replacing the attemperator spray valves. This is a maintenance activity that meets the criteria for capitalization. The other projects will produce paybacks of reduced fuel consumption and higher boiler reliability.

Technical Aspects

Install sensing devices to better map temperature profiles in the boiler.

Project No: 76416232 FIELD INSTRUMENTATION UPGRADE

Company: 003
Location: 764

Project Information

Construction Start Date | In Service Date | Completion Date 12/31/13 | Page 1

List Interim In-Service Dates

These systems will be in service by December 31, 2014

Project Need Justification

This project is part of a group of projects (group includes 76116714, 76117821, 76316532, 76416232, 76516072, 76617215, 76616311, 76717514, 76716015, 76617232) that addresses obsolesce issues in various local control systems. The original controls are mainly local panels with mechanical and electromechanical devices. They are being replaced with Programmable Logic Controllers (PLCs) which can be connected to the Distributed Control System (DCS). This will enable monitoring and operation from the control room as well as locally. As with all microprocessor based systems, upgrades are required periodically, including replacement of Input/Output (I/O) circuit boards and Control Processors (CPs).

Project Alternatives

The alternative is to continue to maintain the existing equipment but this will become increasingly costly and difficult as replacement parts become harder to find.

Technical Aspects

Replace existing obsolete sensing devices and signal transmitters with state of the art electronic devices

List Interim In-Service Dates

Project Need Justification

Currently, San Juan Generating Station is operating without condensate polishing. There has been issues with copper disposition on the steam turbine generator (STG) blades, which over time decreases the electrical generating potential of the STG. Ultimately, this causes the need for foam cleaning, which may not be compatible with packing on new turbines in the future. The foam cleaning is required for approximately 5 days, every 16 months. Also, due to lack of condensate polishing, SJGS has to hold during startup for condensate chemistry issues. The hold on startup occurs for every startup after a long outage, which occurs most often during scheduled outages and when a unit is down for an extended time for a tube leak or similar duration outage. The hold usually lasts for about 8 hours and impacts overall availability of the unit. SJGS is seeking to add a condensate polisher system to prevent these issues in the future. Tie-ins for piping will be put in during the schedule unit outage and the condensate polisher installed subsequently.

Project Alternatives

The project will include a powdered resin condensate polishing system that will be capable of removing copper and iron particulates from the condensate stream. The condensate polisher has been anticipated to treat ½ of the condensate stream and includes a system bypass.

Project No: 76416334 Unit 4 Expansion Joint Replacement - 2015

Company: 003
Location: 764

Project Information

Construction Start Date 6/1/2015 In Service Date Completion Date 12/30/15 Page 1

List Interim In-Service Dates

Project Need Justification

Fabric expansion joints wear over time due to erosion; therefore there is a need to replace those that are leaking. As the expansion joints leak, they cause increased volume on the forced draft fans. This increase in volume will eventually overcome the ability for the forced draft fans to provide air to the boiler which could result in unit curtailments.

Project Alternatives

There are no viable alternatives.

Technical Aspects

Examine existing fabric joints on Unit 4 and replace those that are leaking with new joints.

Project Information

Construction Start Date | In Service Date | Completion Date 07/24/14 | Page 1

List Interim In-Service Dates

These project will be in service on or before December 31, 2014

Project Need Justification

This project is part of a group of projects (group includes 76416414, 76416532, 76517321, 76716314) that addresses equipment obsolescence and/or equipment failure issues. Replacement of critical equipment is necessary to sustain unit reliability. This projects involves maintenance activities that meet the criteria for capitalization.

Project Alternatives

The alternative is to continue to maintain the existing equipment but this will become increasingly costly and difficult as replacement parts become harder to find.

Technical Aspects

In kind replacement of failed electrical motor. The replacements will be of similar design but with upgraded materials and solid state controls.

Project No: 76416415 Unit 4 Hydrogen Dryer

Company: 003
Location: 764

Project Information

Construction Start Date 7/1/2015 In Service Date Completion Date 12/30/15 Page 1

List Interim In-Service Dates

Project Need Justification

The existing generator hydrogen gas dryer is not functioning and has been removed from service. A hydrogen gas dryer is necessary for the safe and reliable operation of the generator. Hydrogen gas in conjunction with water filled tubes within the generator stator windings keep the generator cool. Droplets of water are sometimes picked up by the hydrogen gas. Absence of a dryer can lead to a saturation condition where condensation occurs within the generator. This condition can lead to forced outages.

Project Alternatives

Given the condition of the existing hydrogen gas dryer, maintenance is not an alternative. A complete replacement is required.

Technical Aspects

Replace the existing failed dryer with a desiccant based tower system

Project No: 76416424 Unit 4 Arc Flash Mitigation-2014

Company: 003
Location: 764

Project Information

Construction Start Date | In Service Date | Completion Date 12/30/14

List Interim In-Service Dates

Specific sets of relays will be placed in service at various times in 2014, 2015 and 2016

Project Need Justification

This project is part of a group of projects (see also 76116513, 76117733, 76117747, 76416134, 76616036, 77916136, 77917925, 76617132, 76416424) that addresses equipment obsolescence issues and new standards for exposure to potential arc flash energy. Protective relay technology has moved from electromechanical devices to solid state devices. Electromechanical relays are becoming obsolete. OSHA regulations regarding exposure to potential arc flash energy have become more stringent since the San Juan Plant was designed and constructed. Solid state relays can be used to control arc flash incident energy.

Project Alternatives

The existing electromechanical relays could continue to be maintained but the task will become increasingly difficult as parts become less available. The alternative for compliance with arc flash exposure standards is personal protective equipment for employees assigned to task where arc flash exposure occurs.

Technical Aspects

Install relays and maintenance switches which will reduce the available arc flash incident energy. This project is part of a multiyear program to replace electromechanical relays with solid state relays. The relays are located in all areas of the plant - each unit, common areas and the switchyard.

Project No: 76416514 U4 Cooling Tower Raw Water Line Rep

Company: 003
Location: 764

Project Information

Construction Start Date | In Service Date | Completion Date 07/30/14

List Interim In-Service Dates

These projects will be in service on or before December 31, 2016

Project Need Justification

This project involves routine maintenance activities relating to the San Juan Generating Stations' piping systems that meet the criteria for capitalization.

Project Alternatives

Since these projects are maintenance necessary to sustain plant operations, there are no viable alternatives.

Technical Aspects

In kind replacement of failed 24" water line - approximately 300 feet. Some minor pipe routing changes may be made to facilitate installation and future maintenance.

Project No: 76416515 Unit 4 Absorber PH Probe Replacement

Company: 003
Location: 764

Project Information

Construction Start Date 9/1/2015 In Service Date Completion Date 12/30/15

List Interim In-Service Dates

Project Need Justification

The flue gas desulfurization (FGD) systems are pollution control systems designed to remove sulfur dioxide (SO2) from the gases generated by burning coal. Major maintenance activities on these systems meet the criteria for capitalization. These major maintenance activities occur during planned unit outages with durations between 20 and 50 days. San Juan Unit 1 and San Juan Unit 4 both have planned outages of 50 days in 2015. These activities are necessary to maintain compliance with the Title V Air Permit which, among other things, regulates the emission rate for SO2. Poor performance of the FGD systems will result in either reduced unit output capacity (production of fewer megawatt hours) or out of compliance operation which can result in fines or penalties.

Project Alternatives

This is a major maintenance activity designed to return the systems from worn conditions back to original design specifications, there are no technical alternatives. These activities are mostly remove and replace in-kind with some material upgrades. Operational alternatives would be to reduce unit output but this is not a viable alternative as it would result in higher cost per megawatt hour.

Technical Aspects

Replace existing obsolete pH probes with new probes and install a mounting system that facilitates cleaning without requiring electrical technicians to disconnect the wiring.

Project No: 76416532 CIRC WATER MOTOR GYPSUM FIX

Company: 003
Location: 764

Project Information

Construction Start Date | In Service Date | Completion Date 12/31/14 | Page 1

List Interim In-Service Dates

These project will be in service on or before December 31, 2014

Project Need Justification

This project is part of a group of projects (group includes 76416414, 76416532, 76517321, 76716314) that addresses equipment obsolescence and/or equipment failure issues. Replacement of critical equipment is necessary to sustain unit reliability. This projects involves maintenance activities that meet the criteria for capitalization.

Project Alternatives

The alternative is to continue to maintain the existing equipment but this will become increasingly costly and difficult as replacement parts become harder to find.

Technical Aspects

Install shrouds around motor cooling air intakes to prevent contamination from dust from nearby gypsum pile

Project No: 76416634 Unit 4 Coal Piping Replacement - 2015

Company: 003
Location: 764

List Interim In-Service Dates

Unit 4 related projects will be in service on November 30, 2015.

Project Need Justification

This project is part of a group of projects (group includes 76216323, 76217421, 76117742, 76416634, 76516034) that involves routine maintenance to San Juan Generating Stations' boiler systems (such as feeders, pulverizers, coal piping, burners, etc.). The equipment which prepares and delivers fuel to the boilers consists of many high wear components that require routine replacement. Major maintenance activities on this equipment meet the criteria for capitalization. Routine maintenance is necessary to sustain reliable operation of the generating unit.

Project Alternatives

As these are major maintenance activities designed to return the systems from worn conditions back to original design specifications, there are no technical alternatives. These activities are mostly remove and replace in-kind with some material upgrades, such as the addition of ceramic liners in the pulverizer bowl sections. Operational alternatives would be to reduce unit output but this is not a viable alternative.

Technical Aspects

In kind replacement of thinned piping that conducts pulverized coal from the pulverizers to the burners

Project Need Justification

This project is one of several projects (see also 76116415, 76116512, 76117432, 76416715, 76417515, 76416215) that relate to the operation of the boiler and combustion optimization. Combustion optimization, steam temperature control and leak detection are all elements of boiler operation which have a direct impact on fuel efficiency and cost of generation. The amount of oxygen and carbon monoxide leaving the boiler reflects the completeness of combustion. The original design had only minimal oxygen and carbon monoxide sensing devices. Early detection of tube leaks allow operators to shut down the boiler before extensive damage occurs. Fine control of steam temperatures are accomplished by using attemperator spray valves. The valves on Unit 4 are in poor condition and require replacement.

Project Alternatives

There is no technical alternative to replacing the attemperator spray valves. This is a maintenance activity that meets the criteria for capitalization. The other projects will produce paybacks of reduced fuel consumption and higher boiler reliability.

Technical Aspects

Install sensing devices, transmitters, analytical software and controls to enhance combustion based on carbon monoxide readings at the boiler exit.

List Interim In-Service Dates

All projects will be in service by December 31, 2014

Project Need Justification

This project is part of a group of projects (group includes 76117214, 76117932, 76217132, 76416732) relating to maintenance on the San Juan Flue Gas Desulfurization (FGD) systems. These systems are are pollution control systems designed to remove sulfur dioxide (SO2) from the gases generated by burning coal. Major maintenance activities on these systems meet the criteria for capitalization. These major maintenance activities occur during planned unit outages with durations between 20 and 50 days. San Juan Unit 1 and San Juan Unit 4 both have planned outages of 50 days in 2015. These activities are necessary to maintain compliance with the Title V Air Permit which, among other things, regulates the emission rate for SO2. Poor performance of the FGD systems will result in either reduced unit output capacity (production of fewer megawatt hours) or out of compliance operation which can result in fines or penalties.

Project Alternatives

As these are major maintenance activities designed to return the systems from worn conditions back to original design specifications, there are no technical alternatives. These activities are mostly remove and replace in-kind with some material upgrades. Operational alternatives would be to reduce unit output but this is not a viable alternative as it would result in higher cost per megawatt hour.

Technical Aspects

Replace three (3) nuclear source based density sensing instruments with non-nuclear coriolis based density sensing instruments

Project No: 76416815 Unit 4 CEM Replacement

Company: 003
Location: 764

Project Information

Construction Start Date 3/1/2016 In Service Date Completion Date 08/30/16

List Interim In-Service Dates

Project Need Justification

Continuous emissions monitoring systems are the equipment used to measure stack emissions and report information to various environmental regulators as required by the Title V Air Permit. Replacement is necessary to avoid obsolescence issues.

Project Alternatives

This is a maintenance activity that meets the criteria for capitalization. There are no viable alternatives.

Technical Aspects

Replace monitors and software used to report stack emission data to regulatory agencies. The existing systems will be replaced with the latest version of sensors, gas analyzers and data collection devices. The new equipment will have greater accuracy and higher reliability than the aging equipment.

Project No: 76416915 Unit 4 Cooling Tower Fan VFDs

Company: 003
Location: 764

Project Information

Construction Start Date 7/1/2016 In Service Date Completion Date 07/30/14

List Interim In-Service Dates

Project Need Justification

Process control and auxiliary power reduction.

Project Alternatives

No viable alternatives.

Technical Aspects

Variable frequency drives.

Project No: 76417115 Unit 4 Economizer Ash Removal System

Company: 003
Location: 764

Project Information

Construction Start Date | In Service Date | Completion Date 12/30/15 | Page 1

List Interim In-Service Dates

The Unit 4 project will be in service by November 30, 2015.

Project Need Justification

The boiler economizer ash removal systems were taken out of service on all San Juan boilers several years ago. Removal of this equipment has resulted in the accumulation of large volumes of ash in the areas where the equipment was located. The weight of the accumulated ash has resulted in duct and duct hanger failures. Installation of new ash removal equipment is needed to prevent future duct and duct hanger failures.

Project Alternatives

Given the impact on reliability resulting from the removal of the original equipment, the alternative would be to accepted the reduced reliability of the unit.

Technical Aspects

Installation of new ash removal equipment including dry flite chain conveyor, ash crusher, discharge chute, day tank, instrumentation, and controls on Unit 4.

Project No: 76417221 SJ U4 AR Pump Gear Box Modifications

Company: 003
Location: 764

Project Information

Construction Start Date 9/1/2011 In Service Date Completion Date 12/15/15 Page 1

List Interim In-Service Dates

Project Need Justification

The project is for installation of a gear-drive on one of the three absorber recirculation pumps which will significantly reduce the bearing stresses and minimize bearing and motor failures.

Project Alternatives

To not install the gear drive would cause continued bearing failures and the costs associated with repetitive repairs.

Technical Aspects

Technical aspects for gear drive replacement would include working on valves, piping and pumps.

Project No: 76417415 Unit 4 Absorber Polishing Sieve Tray

Company: 003
Location: 764

Project Information

Construction Start Date 8/1/2015 In Service Date Completion Date 12/30/15

List Interim In-Service Dates

Project Need Justification

The flue gas desulfurization (FGD) systems are pollution control systems designed to remove sulfur dioxide (SO2) from the gases generated by burning coal. Major maintenance activities on these systems meet the criteria for capitalization. These major maintenance activities occur during planned unit outages with durations between 20 and 50 days. San Juan Unit 1 and San Juan Unit 4 both have planned outages of 50 days in 2015. These activities are necessary to maintain compliance with the Title V Air Permit which, among other things, regulates the emission rate for SO2. Poor performance of the FGD systems will result in either reduced unit output capacity (production of fewer megawatt hours) or out of compliance operation which can result in fines or penalties.

Project Alternatives

This is a major maintenance activity designed to return the systems from worn conditions back to original design specifications, there are no technical alternatives. These activities are mostly remove and replace in-kind with some material upgrades. Operational alternatives would be to reduce unit output but this is not a viable alternative as it would result in higher cost per megawatt hour.

Technical Aspects

Install a second perforated plate between the existing sieve tray elevation and the first spray header elevation.

Project Need Justification

This project is one of several projects (see also 76116415, 76116512, 76117432, 76416715, 76417515, 76416215) that relate to the operation of the boiler and combustion optimization. Combustion optimization, steam temperature control and leak detection are all elements of boiler operation which have a direct impact on fuel efficiency and cost of generation. The amount of oxygen and carbon monoxide leaving the boiler reflects the completeness of combustion. The original design had only minimal oxygen and carbon monoxide sensing devices. Early detection of tube leaks allow operators to shut down the boiler before extensive damage occurs. Fine control of steam temperatures are accomplished by using attemperator spray valves. The valves on Unit 4 are in poor condition and require replacement.

Project Alternatives

There is no technical alternative to replacing the attemperator spray valves. This is a maintenance activity that meets the criteria for capitalization. The other projects will produce paybacks of reduced fuel consumption and higher boiler reliability.

Technical Aspects

In kind replacement of the control isolation valves that control steam temperatures leaving the boiler and heading to the turbine. The attemperator spray valves are an in-kind replacement of 2500PSI control valves and isolation valves.

Project Need Justification

Changes to control systems are typically implemented during planned outage periods. Both San Juan Unit 1 and Unit 4 have planned outages in 2015. This is one of several projects (see 76116317, 76116622, 76117532, 76128014, 76128015, 76128023, 76328014, 76328015, 76416119, 76428015, 76428518) that is part of a plant wide program to replace aging and/or obsolete control devices (such as pistol grip switches and mechanical devices) with current state of the art devices (such as "soft" switches on computer screens and electronic transmitters). These upgrades allow a reduction in physical space for controls (moving from panel boards to computer screens), consistency in control device philosophy, easier troubleshooting and greater system status information for the unit operators. Routine software upgrades are implement from time to time to address identified bugs and/or security issues. Self documenting software provides both control and communications of changes made in control logic. This project also reduces administrative effort required for NERC compliance.

Project Alternatives

The only alternative is the "do nothing" alternative. Existing systems can be maintained although with increasing difficulty, increasing expense, and decreasing reliability due to obsolescence issues.

Technical Aspects

Install software that automatically documents and reports configuration changes.

Project Need Justification

Changes to control systems are typically implemented during planned outage periods. Both San Juan Unit 1 and Unit 4 have planned outages in 2015. This is one of several projects (see 76116317, 76116622, 76117532, 76128014, 76128015, 76128023, 76328014, 76328015, 76416119, 76428015, 76428518) that is part of a plant wide program to replace aging and/or obsolete control devices (such as pistol grip switches and mechanical devices) with current state of the art devices (such as "soft" switches on computer screens and electronic transmitters). These upgrades allow a reduction in physical space for controls (moving from panel boards to computer screens), consistency in control device philosophy, easier troubleshooting and greater system status information for the unit operators. Routine software upgrades are implement from time to time to address identified bugs and/or security issues. Self documenting software provides both control and communications of changes made in control logic.

Project Alternatives

The only alternative is the "do nothing" alternative. Existing systems can be maintained although with increasing difficulty, increasing expense, and decreasing reliability due to obsolescence issues.

Technical Aspects

Upgrade operating system software to latest (and most secure) release.

Project No: 76516013 SJ U1&2 Tripper Deck Fire Protection System

Company: 003
Location: 765

List Interim In-Service Dates

All of these projects are in service as of October 31, 2014

Project Need Justification

This project is part of a group of projects (group include 76117619, 76216017, 76316314, 76416029, 76516013, 76716212) that incolves updating the fire protection systems at the San Juan Generating Station. Routine inspections of the fire protection systems are conducted by PNM's property insurance company. The insurer recommended installation of a check valve in each of the four turbine room fire protection systems. Fire protection systems on the tripper decks (the location where coal transfers from conveyor belts into storage silos) were determined to be inadequate and a complete overall was required.

Project Alternatives

There are no technical alternative to the check valve installation recommendation. The wet pipe fire suppression technology selected for the tripper decks was evaluated as being more reliable and less costly than dry pipe systems or foam systems.

Technical Aspects

Design and install a wet standpipe system in the areas where coal is transferred from conveyor belts into storage silos

Project No: 76516015 Unit 1&2 Sample Panel and Chemical Feedpump Controls

Company: 003
Location: 765

Project Information

Construction Start Date 3/1/2016 In Service Date Completion Date 08/30/16

List Interim In-Service Dates

Project Need Justification

This projects is part of several projects (see 76117813, 76416019, 76516015, 76516215, 76617015, 76628036, 76628515, 76628634, 76716015) that address obsolesce issues in various local control systems. The original controls are mainly local panels with mechanical and electromechanical devices. They are being replaced with Programmable Logic Controllers (PLCs) which can be connected to the Distributed Control System (DCS). This enables monitoring and operation from the control room as well as locally. As with all microprocessor based systems, upgrades are required periodically, including replacement of Input/Output (I/O) circuit boards and Control Processors (CPs).

Project Alternatives

The alternative is to continue to maintain the existing equipment but this will become increasingly costly and difficult as replacement parts become harder to find.

Technical Aspects

Replace existing obsolete controls with state of the art electronic devices.

Project No: 76516034 Units 1&2 Pulverizer Mill CO2 Inerting

Company: 003
Location: 765

Project Information

Construction Start Date | In Service Date | Completion Date 09/30/15 | Page 1

List Interim In-Service Dates

Unit 1 related projects will be in service on April 15, 2015. Unit 4 related projects will be in service on November 30, 2015. Unit 2 related projects are in service

Project Need Justification

This project is part of a group of projects (group includes 76216323, 76217421, 76117742, 76416634, 76516034) that involves routine maintenance to San Juan Generating Stations' boiler systems (such as feeders, pulverizers, coal piping, burners, etc.). The equipment which prepares and delivers fuel to the boilers consists of many high wear components that require routine replacement. Major maintenance activities on this equipment meet the criteria for capitalization. Routine maintenance is necessary to sustain reliable operation of the generating unit.

Project Alternatives

As these are major maintenance activities designed to return the systems from worn conditions back to original design specifications, there are no technical alternatives. These activities are mostly remove and replace in-kind with some material upgrades, such as the addition of ceramic liners in the pulverizer bowl sections. Operational alternatives would be to reduce unit output but this is not a viable alternative.

Technical Aspects

Extend 4"CO2 header piping to Unit 1 area and install a branch line to each of 4 pulverizers. The inerting system replaces the current steam system with a carbon dioxide (CO2) system. The inerting system is used to create a non-combustible atmosphere during pulverizer starts and stops. The inerting system is an industry standard practice to prevent pulverizer "puffs" or explosions that are most likely to occur during starts and stops.

List Interim In-Service Dates

Project Need Justification

Routine major maintenance activities that meet the criteria for capitalization are necessary to keep site buildings, access ways, lighting and infrastructure in a safe and reliable condition. This project is part of several projects (76116328, 76116334, 76116335, 76416127, 76416128, 76516036, 76516117, 76516717, 76616231, 76616536, 76617515, 76116114, 76116331, 76117514, 76517524, 76616028, 76616054, 76616115, 76617915, and 76716220) that relate to building and structure maintenance requirments. These projects, include replacing roof systems that have had a normal life expectancy and require replacement due to the fact they are reaching the end of life, attending to aging coating systems (typically paint), designing and constructing access platforms to address safety issues, and purchasing scaffolding to reduce rental expense.

Project Alternatives

Building maintenance activities have no alternatives as long as the facilities are occupied and used for production. There is some discretion in the timing of these investments and typically they are arranged (when possible) in years when there are no planned outages as projects in non-outage years typically have less project management demands and lower capital funding requirements.

Technical Aspects

Reconfigure and/or expand the existing building to accommodate consolidation of maintenance resources.

Project No: 76516072 SJ U1&2 Ash System Common Controls

Company: 003
Location: 765

Project Information

Construction Start Date | In Service Date | Completion Date 11/30/14

List Interim In-Service Dates

These systems will be in service by December 31, 2014

Project Need Justification

This project is part of a group of projects (group includes 76116714, 76117821, 76316532, 76416232, 76516072, 76617215, 76616311, 76717514, 76716015, 76617232) that addresses obsolesce issues in various local control systems. The original controls are mainly local panels with mechanical and electromechanical devices. They are being replaced with Programmable Logic Controllers (PLCs) which can be connected to the Distributed Control System (DCS). This will enable monitoring and operation from the control room as well as locally. As with all microprocessor based systems, upgrades are required periodically, including replacement of Input/Output (I/O) circuit boards and Control Processors (CPs).

Project Alternatives

The alternative is to continue to maintain the existing equipment but this will become increasingly costly and difficult as replacement parts become harder to find.

Technical Aspects

Replace existing obsolete controls with state of the art electronic devices (e.g., circuit boards, wiring, processors, graphical interfaces and control logic programming)

Project No: 76516114 Units 1&2 High Pressure Ash Water Pump Replacement

Company: 003
Location: 765

Project Information

Construction Start Date | In Service Date | Completion Date 10/31/14

List Interim In-Service Dates

These projects will be in service on or before December 31, 2014

Project Need Justification

Approximately 20% of the ash produced from the combustion of coal is collected in a water filled hopper at the bottom of each boiler. Ash is removed from these hoppers using flushing waters via a high pressure pump.. The ash and water combination is sent to dewatering bins where the water is decanted and returned for reuse. The dewatered solids are trucked to a disposal site.

Project Alternatives

As these are major maintenance activities designed to return the systems from worn conditions back to original design specifications, there are no technical alternatives. These activities are mostly remove and replace in-kind with some material upgrades.

Technical Aspects

In-kind replacement of high pressure, high volume pump used to flow water through the ash removal system

Project No: 76516115 Units 1&2 Increase Sootblower Line Size

Company: 003
Location: 765

Project Information

Construction Start Date | In Service Date | Completion Date 12/30/14 | Page 1

List Interim In-Service Dates

These projects will be in service on or before December 31, 2016

Project Need Justification

This project involves routine maintenance activities relating to the San Juan Generating Stations' piping systems that meet the criteria for capitalization.

Project Alternatives

Since these projects are maintenance necessary to sustain plant operations, there are no viable alternatives.

Technical Aspects

Replace 4" steel compressed air header piping with 8" steel compressed air header piping. Some minor pipe routing changes may be made to facilitate installation and future maintenance.

Project Need Justification

Routine major maintenance activities that meet the criteria for capitalization are necessary to keep site buildings, access ways, lighting and infrastructure in a safe and reliable condition. This project is part of several projects (76116328, 76116334, 76116335, 76416127, 76416128, 76516036, 76516117, 76516717, 76616231, 76616536, 76617515, 76116114, 76116331, 76117514, 76517524, 76616028, 76616054, 76616115, 76617915, and 76716220) that relate to building and structure maintenance requirments. These projects, include replacing roof systems that have had a normal life expectancy and require replacement due to the fact they are reaching the end of life, attending to aging coating systems (typically paint), designing and constructing access platforms to address safety issues, and purchasing scaffolding to reduce rental expense.

Project Alternatives

Building maintenance activities have no alternatives as long as the facilities are occupied and used for production. There is some discretion in the timing of these investments and typically they are arranged (when possible) in years when there are no planned outages as projects in non-outage years typically have less project management demands and lower capital funding requirements.

Technical Aspects

Replace obsolete lighting systems with energy efficient system and relocated to provide higher footcandle per square foot values. Fluorescent lighting is being replace with HID (High Intensity Discharge) systems.

Project No: 76516215 Unit 1&2 Demineralizer Controls

Company: 003
Location: 765

Project Information

Construction Start Date 5/1/2015 In Service Date Completion Date 06/30/16

List Interim In-Service Dates

Project Need Justification

This projects is part of several projects (see 76117813, 76416019, 76516015, 76516215, 76617015, 76628036, 76628515, 76628634, 76716015) that address obsolesce issues in various local control systems. The original controls are mainly local panels with mechanical and electromechanical devices. They are being replaced with Programmable Logic Controllers (PLCs) which can be connected to the Distributed Control System (DCS). This enables monitoring and operation from the control room as well as locally. As with all microprocessor based systems, upgrades are required periodically, including replacement of Input/Output (I/O) circuit boards and Control Processors (CPs).

Project Alternatives

The alternative is to continue to maintain the existing equipment but this will become increasingly costly and difficult as replacement parts become harder to find.

Technical Aspects

Replace existing obsolete controls with state of the art electronic devices.

Project No: 76516510 Units 1&2 5B Tripper Belt Replacement

Company: 003
Location: 765

Project Information

Construction Start Date | In Service Date | Completion Date 12/01/14 | Page 1

List Interim In-Service Dates

These project will be in service on or before December 31, 2014

Project Need Justification

The San Juan coal handling systems are antiquated and in need of significant modifications to address safety issues (including control of combustible dust), obsolescence issues, performance issues, and consolidation following the decommissioning of two units. Dust control equipment and best practices in chute design have changed significantly since the coal handling systems were first installed. Most of the original dust control equipment and conveyor bellts are no longer functioning and therefore must be replaced. The presence of combustible dust is a hazard to both personnel and equipment.

Project Alternatives

There is no alternative to addressing the issue of combustible dust. Various technologies will create technical alternatives but the issue must be addressed. Similarly, a non-manual method of addressing chute and silo pluggage must be implemented.

Technical Aspects

In kind replacement of coal conveyor belt

Project No: 76516715 Units 1&2 Plant Air Compressor Replacement

Company: 003
Location: 765

Project Information

Construction Start Date 3/1/2016 In Service Date Completion Date 08/30/16 Page 1

List Interim In-Service Dates

Project Need Justification

The existing plant compressed air system compressors are unreliable and at the end of design life. Plant compressed air is used for service functions throughout the units.

Project Alternatives

Plant service air can be provided by reducing pressure from the soot blowing air system but this is an inefficient approach and will rob volume from a system that is already fully taxed with providing the needed volume of air for soot blowing purposes.

Technical Aspects

Replace an obsolete air compressor with a modern energy efficient compressor that will be of the latest design and have greater energy efficiency than the current model.

Project Need Justification

Routine major maintenance activities that meet the criteria for capitalization are necessary to keep site buildings, access ways, lighting and infrastructure in a safe and reliable condition. This project is part of several projects (76116328, 76116334, 76116335, 76416127, 76416128, 76516036, 76516117, 76516717, 76616231, 76616536, 76617515, 76116114, 76116331, 76117514, 76517524, 76616028, 76616054, 76616115, 76617915, and 76716220) that relate to building and structure maintenance requirments. These projects, include replacing roof systems that have had a normal life expectancy and require replacement due to the fact they are reaching the end of life, attending to aging coating systems (typically paint), designing and constructing access platforms to address safety issues, and purchasing scaffolding to reduce rental expense.

Project Alternatives

Building maintenance activities have no alternatives as long as the facilities are occupied and used for production. There is some discretion in the timing of these investments and typically they are arranged (when possible) in years when there are no planned outages as projects in non-outage years typically have less project management demands and lower capital funding requirements.

Technical Aspects

Replace failed roofing with fully adhered roofing system. Roof replacements include removal of the existing ballast and/or fully adhered waterproof membrane, insulation and decking (if necessary). Some of the original roofing systems used asbestos containing materials so abatement is necessary. The new roof systems are using a light weight concrete in lieu of aggregate ballast.

Project No: 76517225 SJ U1&2 Spare Plant Air Compressor Motor

Company: 003
Location: 765

Project Information

Construction Start Date 11/1/2015 In Service Date Completion Date 12/31/16

List Interim In-Service Dates

Project Need Justification

The existing plant compressed air system compressors are unreliable and at the end of design life. Plant compressed air is used for service functions throughout the units.

Project Alternatives

Plant service air can be provided by reducing pressure from the soot blowing air system but this is an inefficient approach and will rob volume from a system that is already fully taxed with providing the needed volume of air for soot blowing purposes.

Technical Aspects

Purchase a spare motor that will ensure minimal downtime when motor maintenance is required.

List Interim In-Service Dates

These project will be in service on or before December 31, 2014

Project Need Justification

This project is part of a group of projects (group includes 76416414, 76416532, 76517321, 76716314) that addresses equipment obsolescence and/or equipment failure issues. Replacement of critical equipment is necessary to sustain unit reliability. This projects involves maintenance activities that meet the criteria for capitalization.

Project Alternatives

The alternative is to continue to maintain the existing equipment but this will become increasingly costly and difficult as replacement parts become harder to find.

Technical Aspects

In kind replacement of obsolete electrical equipment. The replacements will be of similar design but with upgraded materials and solid state controls.

Location: 765

Project Information

Construction Start Date | In Service Date | Completion Date 11/30/14 | Page 1

List Interim In-Service Dates

These projects complete at various times in 2014, 2015 and 2016 but mainly by December 31 of each year.

Project Need Justification

Routine major maintenance activities that meet the criteria for capitalization are necessary to keep site buildings, access ways, lighting and infrastructure in a safe and reliable condition. This project is part of several projects (76116328, 76116334, 76116335, 76416127, 76416128, 76516036, 76516117, 76516717, 76616231, 76616536, 76617515, 76116114, 76116331, 76117514, 76517524, 76616028, 76616054, 76616115, 76617915, 76716220) that relate to building and structure maintenance requirments. These projects, include replacing roof systems that have had a normal life expectancy and require replacement due to the fact they are reaching the end of life, attending to aging coating systems (typically paint), designing and constructing access platforms to address safety issues, and purchasing scaffolding to reduce rental expense.

Project Alternatives

Building maintenance activities have no alternatives as long as the facilities are occupied and used for production. There is some discretion in the timing of these investments and typically they are arranged (when possible) in years when there are no planned outages as projects in non-outage years typically have less project management demands and lower capital funding requirements.

Technical Aspects

Replace failed roofing with fully adhered roofing system. Roof replacements include removal of the existing ballast and/or fully adhered waterproof membrane, insulation and decking (if necessary). Some of the original roofing systems used asbestos containing materials so abatement is necessary. The new roof systems are using a light weight concrete in lieu of aggregate ballast.

Project No: 76517723 Units 1&2 Sootblowing Air Compressor Replacement

Company: 003
Location: 765

Project Information

Construction Start Date | In Service Date | Completion Date 07/01/13 | Page 1

List Interim In-Service Dates

These projects will be in service on or before December 31, 2016

Project Need Justification

This project involves routine maintenance activities relating to the San Juan Generating Stations' piping systems that meet the criteria for capitalization.

Project Alternatives

Since these projects are maintenance necessary to sustain plant operations, there are no viable alternatives.

Technical Aspects

In kind replacement of high volume high pressure air compressor

Project No: 76616019 Plant Common C&D Reclaim Coal Dust Suppression

Company: 003
Location: 766

Project Information

Construction Start Date | In Service Date | Completion Date 12/01/14 | Page 1

List Interim In-Service Dates

These projects will be in service on or before December 31, 2014

Project Need Justification

The San Juan coal handling systems are antiquated and in need of significant modifications to address safety issues (including control of combustible dust), obsolescence issues, performance issues and consolidation following the decommissioning of two units. Dust control equipment and best practices in chute design have changed significantly since the coal handling systems were installed. Most of the original dust control equipment is no longer functioning. The presence of combustible dust is a hazard to both personnel and equipment.

Project Alternatives

There is no alternative to addressing the issue of combustible dust. Various technologies will create technical alternatives but the issue must be addressed.

Technical Aspects

The dust collection system consists of dust pick up hoods at the coal transfer chutes and a water curtain based dust extraction device in a common area of the coal tripper room.

Project No: 76616023 Plant Common North Side Wastewater Electrical Auto Transfer

Company: 003
Location: 766

Project Information

Construction Start Date 1/1/2015 In Service Date Completion Date 07/30/15 Page 1

List Interim In-Service Dates

Project Need Justification

This project (along with 76616915) is designed to eliminate a single point of failure in systems that support all units. Loss of power at the wastewater treatment area (which includes the limestone feed to all flue gas desulfurization systems) or oxidation air block can result in the need to shut down all operating units until power can be restored.

Project Alternatives

The alternative is to continue with the current configuration and run the risk of a power failure causing all units to be removed from service.

Technical Aspects

Install a switch that will automatically switch to a backup source upon loss of the primary circuit.

Project No: 76616025 Common Limestone Area Instrumentation Replacement

Company: 003
Location: 766

Project Information

Construction Start Date 1/1/2013 In Service Date Completion Date 12/30/14 Page 1

List Interim In-Service Dates

Project Need Justification

The existing limestone instrumentation is obsolete and many parts are past their useful lives as well as containing parts that are no longer available.

Project Alternatives

The alternative is to operate each instrument until it breaks and replace them one by one which poses a risk to furnishing limestone to the units' aborbers and affecting reliability.

Technical Aspects

Technical aspects associated with replacing the limestone instrumentation include working on meters, software, and cable.

List Interim In-Service Dates

These projects complete at various times in 2014, 2015 and 2016 but mainly by December 31 of each year.

Project Need Justification

Routine major maintenance activities that meet the criteria for capitalization are necessary to keep site buildings, access ways, lighting and infrastructure in a safe and reliable condition. This project is part of several projects (76116328, 76116334, 76116335, 76416127, 76416128, 76516036, 76516117, 76516717, 76616231, 76616536, 76617515, 76116114, 76116331, 76117514, 76517524, 76616028, 76616054, 76616115, 76617915, 76716220) that relate to building and structure maintenance requirments. These projects, include replacing roof systems that have had a normal life expectancy and require replacement due to the fact they are reaching the end of life, attending to aging coating systems (typically paint), designing and constructing access platforms to address safety issues, and purchasing scaffolding to reduce rental expense.

Project Alternatives

Building maintenance activities have no alternatives as long as the facilities are occupied and used for production. There is some discretion in the timing of these investments and typically they are arranged (when possible) in years when there are no planned outages as projects in non-outage years typically have less project management demands and lower capital funding requirements.

Technical Aspects

Replace failed roofing with fully adhered roofing system. Roof replacements include removal of the existing ballast and/or fully adhered waterproof membrane, insulation and decking (if necessary). Some of the original roofing systems used asbestos containing materials so abatement is necessary. The new roof systems are using a light weight concrete in lieu of aggregate ballast.

Project No: 76616029 Plant Common Brine Concentrator 4 Pipe Replacements

Company: 003
Location: 766

Project Information

Construction Start Date | In Service Date | Completion Date 12/31/14 | Page 1

List Interim In-Service Dates

These projects will be in service on or before December 31, 2016

Project Need Justification

This project involves routine maintenance activities relating to the San Juan Generating Stations' piping systems that meet the criteria for capitalization.

Project Alternatives

Since these projects are maintenance necessary to sustain plant operations, there are no viable alternatives.

Technical Aspects

In kind replacement of failed inlet and outlet piping at brine concentrator #4. Some minor pipe routing changes may be made to facilitate installation and future maintenance.

Project No: 76616030 Plant Common Brine Concentrator 4 Tube Bundle Bypass

Company: 003
Location: 766

Project Information

Construction Start Date 5/1/2015 In Service Date Completion Date 08/31/16

List Interim In-Service Dates

Project Need Justification

Improve equipment reliability and reduce maintenance expense.

Project Alternatives

No viable alternatives.

Technical Aspects

Piping, dilution chamber.

Project No: 76616031 Plant Common Brine Concentrator 5 Tube Bundle Bypass

Company: 003
Location: 766

Project Information

Construction Start Date 1/1/2015 In Service Date Completion Date 09/30/15

List Interim In-Service Dates

Project Need Justification

Improve equipment reliability and reduce maintenance expense.

Project Alternatives

No viable alternatives.

Technical Aspects

Piping, dilution chamber.

List Interim In-Service Dates

Project Need Justification

This project is part of a group of projects (76117614, 76117724, 76117749, 76416012, 76617615, 76616035) that address equipment obsolescence issues. Replacement of critical equipment is necessary to sustain unit reliability. The automatic voltage regulators, specifically, have deteriorating reliability and their poor performance can become a North America Electric Reliability Council (NERC) issue.

Project Alternatives

The alternative is to continue to maintain the existing equipment but this will become increasingly costly and difficult as replacement parts become harder to find.

Technical Aspects

In kind replacement of obsolete electrical equipment. The equipment replacements with be of similar design but with upgraded materials and solid state controls.

Project No: 76616036 Plant Common Protection Relay Replacement - 2016

Company: 003
Location: 766

List Interim In-Service Dates

Project Need Justification

This project is part of a group of projects (see also 76116513, 76117733, 76117747, 76416134, 76616036, 77916136, 77917925, 76617132, 76416424) that addresses equipment obsolescence issues and new standards for exposure to potential arc flash energy. Protective relay technology has moved from electromechanical devices to solid state devices. Electromechanical relays are becoming obsolete. OSHA regulations regarding exposure to potential arc flash energy have become more stringent since the San Juan Plant was designed and constructed. Solid state relays can be used to control arc flash incident energy.

Project Alternatives

The existing electromechanical relays could continue to be maintained but the task will become increasingly difficult as parts become less available. The alternative for compliance with arc flash exposure standards is personal protective equipment for employees assigned to task where arc flash exposure occurs.

Technical Aspects

Replace obsolete electromechanical relays with solid state devices. This project is part of a multiyear program to replace electromechanical relays with solid state relays. The relays are located in all areas of the plant - each unit, common areas and the switchyard.

Project No: 76616046 Plant Common Fiber Optic Cable Between PSPS NERC

Company: 003
Location: 766

Project Information

Construction Start Date 4/1/2014 In Service Date Completion Date 12/01/15 Page 1

List Interim In-Service Dates

Project Need Justification

As an owner and operator of a Bulk Electric System (BES), PNM is required to comply with applicable standards from NERC. This project is one of several projects (76616046, 76616815, 76617115, 76617815, 76617932, 76628039, 76628042, 76628044, 76628047, 76628215, 76628315, 76628415, 76628045) relating to NERC compliance Many standards apply but most of these projects are aimed at compliance with the latest version of the NERC CIP (Critical Infrastructure Protection) standard.

Project Alternatives

Some alternatives in the method of compliance are available but there are no alternative to complying with the standard. This specific project was selected because it was deemed the best option available to PNM to comply with NERC standards.

Technical Aspects

Install fiber optic conductors, conduit and/or cable tray as needed to comply with NERC "6 wall" protection for links between Physically Secure Perimeters.

Project No: 76616051 Plant Common Coal Board Move to Limestone

Company: 003
Location: 766

Project Information

Construction Start Date 6/1/2015 In Service Date Completion Date 5/31/16

List Interim In-Service Dates

Project Need Justification

The San Juan coal handling systems are antiquated and in need of significant modifications to address safety issues (e.g., control of combustible dust), obsolescence issues, performance issues, and consolidation following the decommissioning of two units. This project is part of several projects (see also 76616051, 76616120, 76616215, 76616415, 76617315, 76617415, 76628043) that will update the coal handling systems at San Juan. Dust control equipment and best practices in chute design have changed significantly since the coal handling systems were installed. Most of the original dust control equipment is no longer functioning. The presence of combustible dust is a hazard to both personnel and equipment. The existing reclaim systems do not support coal blending. The plant suffers from intermittent batches of poor quality coal. An on-line analyzer and blending capability will enable the plant to better manage poor coal quality. Air cannons are necessary for a safer means of addressing chute and silo pluggage. A manual method has been stopped because it was recognized an unsafe practice.

Project Alternatives

There is no alternative to addressing the issue of combustible dust. Various technologies will create technical alternatives but the issue must be addressed. Similarly, a non-manual method of addressing chute and silo pluggage must be implemented.

Technical Aspects

Relocate existing controls from a remote location to a location common with other plant operations. This involves moving circuit boards, cabling, software, and monitors.

Project Need Justification

Routine major maintenance activities that meet the criteria for capitalization are necessary to keep site buildings, access ways, lighting and infrastructure in a safe and reliable condition. This project is part of several projects (76116328, 76116334, 76116335, 76416127, 76416128, 76516036, 76516117, 76516717, 76616231, 76616536, 76617515, 76116114, 76116331, 76117514, 76517524, 76616028, 76616054, 76616115, 76617915, and 76716220) that relate to building and structure maintenance requirments. These projects, include replacing roof systems that have had a normal life expectancy and require replacement due to the fact they are reaching the end of life, attending to aging coating systems (typically paint), designing and constructing access platforms to address safety issues, and purchasing scaffolding to reduce rental expense.

Project Alternatives

Building maintenance activities have no alternatives as long as the facilities are occupied and used for production. There is some discretion in the timing of these investments and typically they are arranged (when possible) in years when there are no planned outages as projects in non-outage years typically have less project management demands and lower capital funding requirements.

Technical Aspects

Replace failed roofing with fully adhered roofing system. Roof replacements include removal of the existing ballast and/or fully adhered waterproof membrane, insulation and decking (if necessary). Some of the original roofing systems used asbestos containing materials so abatement is necessary. The new roof systems are using a light weight concrete in lieu of aggregate ballast.

Project Need Justification

Routine major maintenance activities that meet the criteria for capitalization are necessary to keep site buildings, access ways, lighting and infrastructure in a safe and reliable condition. This project is part of several projects (76116328, 76116334, 76116335, 76416127, 76416128, 76516036, 76516117, 76516717, 76616231, 76616536, 76617515, 76116114, 76116331, 76117514, 76517524, 76616028, 76616054, 76616115, 76617915, and 76716220) that relate to building and structure maintenance requirments. These projects, include replacing roof systems that have had a normal life expectancy and require replacement due to the fact they are reaching the end of life, attending to aging coating systems (typically paint), designing and constructing access platforms to address safety issues, and purchasing scaffolding to reduce rental expense.

Project Alternatives

Building maintenance activities have no alternatives as long as the facilities are occupied and used for production. There is some discretion in the timing of these investments and typically they are arranged (when possible) in years when there are no planned outages as projects in non-outage years typically have less project management demands and lower capital funding requirements.

Technical Aspects

Replace deplete sacrificial anodes.

Project No: 76616120 Common Replace Coal Reclaim Chutes

Company: 003
Location: 766

Project Information

Construction Start Date 1/1/2015 In Service Date Completion Date 04/30/16 Page 1

List Interim In-Service Dates

Project Need Justification

The San Juan coal handling systems are antiquated and in need of significant modifications to address safety issues (e.g., control of combustible dust), obsolescence issues, performance issues, and consolidation following the decommissioning of two units. This project is part of several projects (see also 76616051, 76616120, 76616215, 76616415, 76617315, 76617415, 76628043) that will update the coal handling systems at San Juan. Dust control equipment and best practices in chute design have changed significantly since the coal handling systems were installed. Most of the original dust control equipment is no longer functioning. The presence of combustible dust is a hazard to both personnel and equipment. The existing reclaim systems do not support coal blending. The plant suffers from intermittent batches of poor quality coal. An on-line analyzer and blending capability will enable the plant to better manage poor coal quality. Air cannons are necessary for a safer means of addressing chute and silo pluggage. A manual method has been stopped because it was recognized an unsafe practice.

Project Alternatives

There is no alternative to addressing the issue of combustible dust. Various technologies will create technical alternatives but the issue must be addressed. Similarly, a non-manual method of addressing chute and silo pluggage must be implemented.

Technical Aspects

Replace obsolete equipment with an improved technology for bulk material movement. This project has a broad scope. Feeders, belts and chutes will be replaced. Changes in chute geometry and the installation of new ducts collection equipment will require structural, electrical, piping and control changes. Conceptual engineering must be completed before a complete scope can be defined.

Project No: 76616133 PROTECTION RELAY REPLACEMENT-2013

Company: 003
Location: 766

Project Information

Construction Start Date | In Service Date | Completion Date 12/30/14

List Interim In-Service Dates

These projects will be in service on or before December 31, 2014

Project Need Justification

"This project is part of a group of projects (group includes 76116051, 76616133, 76616520, 77917723, 77917824) that address equipment obsolescence issues and new standards for exposure to potential arc flash energy. Protective relay technology has moved from electromechanical devices to solid state devices and electromechanical relays are becoming obsolete. OSHA regulations regarding exposure to potential arc flash energy have become more stringent since the San Juan Plant was designed and constructed. Solid state relays can be used to control arc flash incident energy. These projects are part of a multiyear program to replace electromechanical relays with solid state relays. The relays are located in all areas of the plant - each unit, common areas and the switchyard."

Project Alternatives

The existing electromechanical relays could continue to be maintained but the task will become increasingly difficult as parts become less available. The alternative for compliance with arc flash exposure standards is personal protective equipment for employees assigned to task where arc flash exposure occurs.

Technical Aspects

Replace obsolete electromechanical relays with solid state devices. The relays are located in all areas of the plant - each unit, common areas and the switchyard.

Project No: 76616215 Common Coal Chute Air Cannons

Company: 003
Location: 766

Project Information

Construction Start Date 5/1/2015 In Service Date Completion Date 11/30/16 Page 1

List Interim In-Service Dates

Project Need Justification

The San Juan coal handling systems are antiquated and in need of significant modifications to address safety issues (e.g., control of combustible dust), obsolescence issues, performance issues, and consolidation following the decommissioning of two units. This project is part of several projects (see also 76616051, 76616120, 76616215, 76616415, 76617315, 76617415, 76628043) that will update the coal handling systems at San Juan. Dust control equipment and best practices in chute design have changed significantly since the coal handling systems were installed. Most of the original dust control equipment is no longer functioning. The presence of combustible dust is a hazard to both personnel and equipment. The existing reclaim systems do not support coal blending. The plant suffers from intermittent batches of poor quality coal. An on-line analyzer and blending capability will enable the plant to better manage poor coal quality. Air cannons are necessary for a safer means of addressing chute and silo pluggage. A manual method has been stopped because it was recognized an unsafe practice.

Project Alternatives

There is no alternative to addressing the issue of combustible dust. Various technologies will create technical alternatives but the issue must be addressed. Similarly, a non-manual method of addressing chute and silo pluggage must be implemented.

Technical Aspects

Install devices to dislodge jammed material and provide a continuous flow of fuel.

Project No: 76616222 Plant Common IDS/PS Installation and Tuning

Company: 003
Location: 766

Project Information

List Interim In-Service Dates

These projects will be in service on or before December 31, 2014

Project Need Justification

This is part of a group of projects (group includes 76228122, 76616222, and 76617732) that is part of a plant wide program to replace aging and/or obsolete control devices (such as pistol grip switches and mechanical devices) with current state of the art devices (such as "soft" switches on computer screens and electronic transmitters). These upgrades allow a reduction in physical space for controls (moving from panel boards to computer screens), consistency in control device philosophy, easier troubleshooting, and greater system status information for the unit operators. Routine software upgrades are implement from time to time to address identified bugs and/or security issues. Self documenting software provides both control and communications of changes made in control logic.

Project Alternatives

The only alternative is the "do nothing" alternative. Existing systems can be maintained although with increasing difficulty, increasing expense and decreasing reliability due to obsolescence issues.

Technical Aspects

Install Intruder Detection System (IDS) and Intrusion Prevention System (IPS) software on critical cyber assets

Project No: 76616225 Common Physical Security Enhancements

Company: 003
Location: 766

Project Information

Construction Start Date 1/1/2013 In Service Date Completion Date 10/30/14 Page 1

List Interim In-Service Dates

Project Need Justification

This project is based on audit recommendations and will enhance physical security at the facility to support NERC security goals since the station is deemed a critical asset.

Project Alternatives

An alternative to the card access system is employing individuals to guard each door. This option was deemed to be too expensive given the personnel needed to guard each door.

Technical Aspects

This project is to add card access to various areas of San Juan Generating Station

Project Need Justification

Routine major maintenance activities that meet the criteria for capitalization are necessary to keep site buildings, access ways, lighting and infrastructure in a safe and reliable condition. This project is part of several projects (76116328, 76116334, 76116335, 76416127, 76416128, 76516036, 76516117, 76516717, 76616231, 76616536, 76617515, 76116114, 76116331, 76117514, 76517524, 76616028, 76616054, 76616115, 76617915, and 76716220) that relate to building and structure maintenance requirments. These projects, include replacing roof systems that have had a normal life expectancy and require replacement due to the fact they are reaching the end of life, attending to aging coating systems (typically paint), designing and constructing access platforms to address safety issues, and purchasing scaffolding to reduce rental expense.

Project Alternatives

Building maintenance activities have no alternatives as long as the facilities are occupied and used for production. There is some discretion in the timing of these investments and typically they are arranged (when possible) in years when there are no planned outages as projects in non-outage years typically have less project management demands and lower capital funding requirements.

Technical Aspects

Replace failed coatings on tanks with coatings engineered for the conditions encountered.

Project No: 76616233 REPLACE PIPING CONTAINING ASBESTOS AT NSWW-2013

Company: 003
Location: 766

Project Information

List Interim In-Service Dates

These projects will be in service on or before December 31, 2014

Project Need Justification

This project is part of a group of projects (group include 76116114, 76116331, 76630514, 76632413, 76616233, 76616234) that involves routine major maintenance activities that meet the criteria for capitalization and are necessary to keep site buildings, access ways, lighting, and infrastructure in a safe and reliable condition.

Project Alternatives

Building maintenance activities have no alternatives as long as the facilities are occupied and used for production. There is some discretion in the timing of these investments and typically they are arranged (when possible) in years when there are no planned outages. Non-outage years typically have less project management demands and lower capital funding requirements.

Technical Aspects

At the North Side Waste Water (NSWW) facility, replace piping fabricated from asbestos containing materials with piping that has no asbestos containing materials

Project No: 76616234 Plant Common Replace Piping Containing Asbestos at NSWW - 2014

Company: 003
Location: 766

Project Information

Construction Start Date | In Service Date | Completion Date 10/31/14

List Interim In-Service Dates

These projects will be in service on or before December 31, 2014

Project Need Justification

This project is part of a group of projects (group include 76116114, 76116331, 76630514, 76632413, 76616233, 76616234) that involves routine major maintenance activities that meet the criteria for capitalization and are necessary to keep site buildings, access ways, lighting, and infrastructure in a safe and reliable condition.

Project Alternatives

Building maintenance activities have no alternatives as long as the facilities are occupied and used for production. There is some discretion in the timing of these investments and typically they are arranged (when possible) in years when there are no planned outages. Non-outage years typically have less project management demands and lower capital funding requirements.

Technical Aspects

At the North Side Waste Water (NSWW) facility, replace piping fabricated from asbestos containing materials with piping that has no asbestos containing materials

List Interim In-Service Dates

These systems will be in service by December 31, 2014

Project Need Justification

This project is part of a group of projects (group includes 76116714, 76117821, 76316532, 76416232, 76516072, 76617215, 76616311, 76717514, 76716015, 76617232) that addresses obsolesce issues in various local control systems. The original controls are mainly local panels with mechanical and electromechanical devices. They are being replaced with Programmable Logic Controllers (PLCs) which can be connected to the Distributed Control System (DCS). This will enable monitoring and operation from the control room as well as locally. As with all microprocessor based systems, upgrades are required periodically, including replacement of Input/Output (I/O) circuit boards and Control Processors (CPs).

Project Alternatives

The alternative is to continue to maintain the existing equipment but this will become increasingly costly and difficult as replacement parts become harder to find.

Technical Aspects

Install data collection device and software to process and record transmitter signals from thousands of sensing elements

Project No: 76616320 Common Warehouse MCS Replacement

Company: 003
Location: 766

Project Information

Construction Start Date 1/1/2015 In Service Date Completion Date 07/30/15 Page 1

List Interim In-Service Dates

Project Need Justification

The warehouse Material Control System (MCS) is key software that operates between the asset management system software and the warehouse robotic material retrieval equipment. The software is no longer compliant with PNM's Business Technical Systems (BTS) standards. The software has known incompatibility with Windows 7.

Project Alternatives

The alternative is to continue operating the software with no support and no upgrades. This poses a significant risk as updates to other software may render this interface software inoperable. Loss of this system will require major changes to warehouse operations and staffing.

Technical Aspects

Identify, purchase an install a replacement Material Control System software which is fully supported and integrates with various industry leading work asset management systems. Replace wheels and rails on the warehouse robots.

Project No: 76616334 Plant Common Lake Outlet Line Coatings

Company: 003
Location: 766

Project Information

Construction Start Date 7/28/2014 In Service Date Completion Date 04/01/14 Page 1

List Interim In-Service Dates

41932

Project Need Justification

The State of New Mexico Engineer's Office requires inspection of Lake Outlet lines every 3 years. An inspection completed in 2012 indicated erosion and degradation of the existing coating system. This project involves removing the old coating and re-coat the North line. Failure to complete this project poses a risk of coating and pipeline failure from the Lake to public properties.

Project Alternatives

None, re-coating the existing line to avoid corrosion and ultimately failure was the only option considered.

Technical Aspects

A third party coating specialist and PNM engineering will develop the technical work scope which will include removal of the old coating, preparation of steel piping, and application of new coating.

Project Need Justification

The San Juan coal handling systems are antiquated and in need of significant modifications to address safety issues (e.g., control of combustible dust), obsolescence issues, performance issues, and consolidation following the decommissioning of two units. This project is part of several projects (see also 76616051, 76616120, 76616215, 76616415, 76617315, 76617415, 76628043) that will update the coal handling systems at San Juan. Dust control equipment and best practices in chute design have changed significantly since the coal handling systems were installed. Most of the original dust control equipment is no longer functioning. The presence of combustible dust is a hazard to both personnel and equipment. The existing reclaim systems do not support coal blending. The plant suffers from intermittent batches of poor quality coal. An on-line analyzer and blending capability will enable the plant to better manage poor coal quality. Air cannons are necessary for a safer means of addressing chute and silo pluggage. A manual method has been stopped because it was recognized an unsafe practice.

Project Alternatives

There is no alternative to addressing the issue of combustible dust. Various technologies will create technical alternatives but the issue must be addressed. Similarly, a non-manual method of addressing chute and silo pluggage must be implemented.

Technical Aspects

Replace existing coal chutes with an upgraded design which will reduce the amount of dust generated as coal is transferred to various belts.

Project No: 76616520 SJ common protection relay

Company: 003
Location: 766

Project Information

Construction Start Date | In Service Date | Completion Date 01/31/15

List Interim In-Service Dates

These projects will be in service on or before December 31, 2014

Project Need Justification

"This project is part of a group of projects (group includes 76116051, 76616133, 76616520, 77917723, 77917824) that address equipment obsolescence issues and new standards for exposure to potential arc flash energy. Protective relay technology has moved from electromechanical devices to solid state devices and electromechanical relays are becoming obsolete. OSHA regulations regarding exposure to potential arc flash energy have become more stringent since the San Juan Plant was designed and constructed. Solid state relays can be used to control arc flash incident energy. These projects are part of a multiyear program to replace electromechanical relays with solid state relays. The relays are located in all areas of the plant - each unit, common areas and the switchyard."

Project Alternatives

The existing electromechanical relays could continue to be maintained but the task will become increasingly difficult as parts become less available. The alternative for compliance with arc flash exposure standards is personal protective equipment for employees assigned to task where arc flash exposure occurs.

Technical Aspects

Replace obsolete electromechanical relays with solid state devices. The relays are located in all areas of the plant - each unit, common areas and the switchyard.

Project Need Justification

Routine major maintenance activities that meet the criteria for capitalization are necessary to keep site buildings, access ways, lighting and infrastructure in a safe and reliable condition. This project is part of several projects (76116328, 76116334, 76116335, 76416127, 76416128, 76516036, 76516117, 76516717, 76616231, 76616536, 76617515, 76116114, 76116331, 76117514, 76517524, 76616028, 76616054, 76616115, 76617915, 76716220) that relate to building and structure maintenance requirments. These projects, include replacing roof systems that have had a normal life expectancy and require replacement due to the fact they are reaching the end of life, attending to aging coating systems (typically paint), designing and constructing access platforms to address safety issues, and purchasing scaffolding to reduce rental expense.

Project Alternatives

Building maintenance activities have no alternatives as long as the facilities are occupied and used for production. There is some discretion in the timing of these investments and typically they are arranged (when possible) in years when there are no planned outages as projects in non-outage years typically have less project management demands and lower capital funding requirements.

Technical Aspects

Replace obsolete controls with state of the art electronic controls.

Company: 003
Location: 766

Project Information

Construction Start Date 7/1/2016 In Service Date Completion Date 10/30/16 Page 1

List Interim In-Service Dates

Project Need Justification

As an owner and operator of a Bulk Electric System (BES), PNM is required to comply with applicable standards from NERC. This project is one of several projects (76616046, 76616815, 76617115, 76617815, 76617932, 76628039, 76628042, 76628044, 76628047, 76628215, 76628315, 76628415, 76628045) relating to NERC compliance Many standards apply but most of these projects are aimed at compliance with the latest version of the NERC CIP (Critical Infrastructure Protection) standard.

Project Alternatives

Some alternatives in the method of compliance are available but there are no alternative to complying with the standard. This specific project was selected because it was deemed the best option available to PNM to comply with NERC standards.

Technical Aspects

Purchase, install and test electrical devices for NERC compliance prior to introducing to operations. NERC requires compliance certification before new devices are deployed in the plant so a test lab is needed to demonstrate compliance and achieve certification.

Project No: 76616915 Common Oxidation Blower Backup Power

Company: 003
Location: 766

Project Information

Construction Start Date 7/1/2015 In Service Date Completion Date 10/30/15 Page 1

List Interim In-Service Dates

Project Need Justification

This project (along with 76616023) is designed to eliminate a single point of failure in systems that support all units. Loss of power at the wastewater treatment area (which includes the limestone feed to all flue gas desulfurization systems) or oxidation air block can result in the need to shut down all operating units until power can be restored.

Project Alternatives

The alternative is to continue with the current configuration and run the risk of a power failure causing all units to be removed from service.

Technical Aspects

Install a redundant power feed to the blowers which support plant wide FGD operation. The backup power is a separate power feed coming from an independent source.

Project Need Justification

This projects is part of several projects (see 76117813, 76416019, 76516015, 76516215, 76617015, 76628036, 76628515, 76628634, 76716015) that address obsolesce issues in various local control systems. The original controls are mainly local panels with mechanical and electromechanical devices. They are being replaced with Programmable Logic Controllers (PLCs) which can be connected to the Distributed Control System (DCS). This enables monitoring and operation from the control room as well as locally. As with all microprocessor based systems, upgrades are required periodically, including replacement of Input/Output (I/O) circuit boards and Control Processors (CPs).

Project Alternatives

The alternative is to continue to maintain the existing equipment but this will become increasingly costly and difficult as replacement parts become harder to find.

Technical Aspects

Replace existing obsolete controls with state of the art electronic devices.
